DANGER OF BLOODSHED IN CITY OF HAMILTON

Police Unable to Cope With Strikers and Military Aid Is Asked

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 13.—Mayor Bigger issued a proclamation today stating that the Riot act would be read if disorderly conduct in the streets, when cars are operated, is not stopped. The Street Railway company asked the mayor to requisition the militia, but he refused. The police commissioners met and decided that if the company operated cars, it must assume the risk as the commission was unable to give it proper police protection. This evening the company announced its intention of running cars tomorrow and has asked the Toronto authorities for militia protection.

Toronto, Nov. 13.—One hundred and sixty men of the regular forces here are being held in readiness at Stanley barracks to proceed to Hamilton.

"The Lake Carriers' Association will urge that the entire cost be covered in one appropriation, in which event it is expected that the new lock can be begun next season and finished in 1909."

New York, Nov. 13.—The Herald today says: "According to the latest developments announced last night upon the best of authority, the New York Yacht club is willing to accept a challenge for a race in 1908 for the America cup under the new rules of measurement. This announcement shows that Sir Thomas Lipton, far from having failed in the object of his visit here, has been successful. He came here to arrive at an understanding for another race, and he has accomplished his object."

"From the same source of information it has also been ascertained that Sir Thomas' next challenging craft will be a cutter, designed by William Fife."

REDUCTION OF RATES.

Railway Commission Acts on Complaint of Kaslo Board of Trade.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—The Kaslo Board of Trade complained to the railway commission some time ago that Kaslo and other points in the Slocan district were being discriminated against in favor of Nelson shippers. It was asked that this should be rectified.

An order has been passed making a general reduction in the rates to ports of call of the Canadian Pacific and Great Northern railways on Lakes Kootenay and Slocan, and also to Canadian Pacific points in the Boundary district. It makes a general reduction to points in the Kootenay and Yale with the exception of Nelson and Rossland, to traffic originating east of the Crow's Nest and west of Kamloops.

GOLD SEEKERS RUSH INTO SASKATCHEWAN

Men Who Mined in Klondike Have Great Faith in New Finds

MAIDSTONE, Sask., Nov. 13.—Indications are favorable that one of the richest gold finds in Canadian history was made five miles east of here yesterday. Messrs. Fieldhouse and Bowlett, of Vermillion, with two expert miners from Montana, made one of the biggest discoveries. They returned today to Vermillion to organize a syndicate, and will at once go to work and rush development on their claims. Several experienced men who have been for years in the Klondike are now on the property prospecting. In their opinion it will without doubt prove one of the richest places discovered in Canada. Every train is crowded with gold seekers.

CANADIANS PROMOTE BIG WATER SCHEME

Plan to Open Direct Route Between Montreal and New York

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 13.—The international waterways commission met here today. The application of the Richelieu Canal Company was under consideration. Canadian interests, it is said, are behind this proposition, which, if present plans are carried out, will open a direct water route between Montreal and New York. Men prominently identified with the project arrived here today, and they will be given a chance to lay their plans before the commission tomorrow.

It was learned tonight on good authority that the company proposes to make Lake Champlain a storage basin for the canal, and that they want to use about 9000 cubic feet per second from the waters of the lake. The promoters intend to utilize the waters of the lake for both navigation and power purposes.

The Minnesota Canal and Power Company's application for water rights was considered, but no definite action was taken. The commissioners also discussed the Lake Erie international boundary question and the present status of Niagara Falls power. No recommendations were made, the discussion being largely over matters of detail.

SHEARWATER SAILORS MEET DISASTER ON RAIL

One of Crew Killed and Others Injured in Collision on the C. P. R.

LEGS BURNED OFF ONE VICTIM

Money, Clothes and Arms All Lost in Fire Which Followed the Wreck

KAMLOOPS, Nov. 13.—(Special)—Two sections of the eastbound express figured in a bad collision at Tranquille siding, seven miles west of here, at 3 o'clock this morning. The first section, consisting of five coaches, was completely destroyed, the acetylene tanks exploding and setting fire to the wreck.

The crew of the Shearwater, who had just been paid off, were all in the first train, and the sailor's luck stood them in good stead, while they lost all their effects, only one fatality resulted.

The accident took place on the main line, the first section having pulled up to meet the westbound, which was to take the siding. The second section was apparently too close to the first, because Brakenham Crowe, who went back to flag the oncoming second section, had not sufficient time to bring the train to a standstill.

Engineer Hosker saw the inevitable when it was too late, and after setting the brakes and reversing he and his fireman rushed out, but only escaping with only a few bruises.

The huge engine tore unchecked through the standing cars, which were filled with sleeping sailors and marines. The lighting system exploded immediately and fire added its horror to the havoc wrought by the crash.

The second section was not badly smashed up and there were no fatalities on it.

The only one killed outright on the first train was one of the cooks, who was badly mangled in the wreck.

One unfortunate sailor was pinned in the burning ruins, and with legs were burned off below the knees.

The passengers who were not injured worked like beavers to extricate those who were caught in the burning timbers and twisted iron work.

Doctors were on the scene within a very short time after the crash, and the injured were hurried to the hospital at Kamloops, where they are doing as well as possible.

None of the passengers on the first train saved any of their belongings. Money, clothes and arms were all burned, and the soldiers and sailors were a motley looking group when the train brought them up here.

Here, a partly clothed man was talking to one who had a blanket in lieu of his ordinary dress; there another without shoes would be seen hobnobbing with a man who had shoes but no hat. It was not long before they were being begged out from local stock.

An inquest on the body of the cook will be held tomorrow, and until the evidence is heard there is no way of telling where the blame lies.

Nothing authentic can be gathered, and the railway men are very uncommunicative regarding the accident.

Dr. Scribner, surgeon of H. M. S. Shearwater, left this morning by the steamer Charming for Kamloops to attend the injured men of the homeward-bound draft who were victims of the collision. He will attend to the medical wants of the men while they remain in Kamloops and will accompany them home to England when they are in condition to travel. It was expected that Lieut. Kerwen, navigating officer of the Shearwater, would also proceed to the scene, but his orders were countermanded.

The injured men are well known at Esquimalt, and, as can be imagined, the news was received with consternation at the naval village. Mrs. Logan, mother of Logan, a stoker, whose face, feet and hips were burned, is a resident of the Esquimalt road. Her son joined the navy here. He left the hospital not many days before the draft started for home, having been burned about the face and almost blinded as a result of a flash from the furnaces of H. M. S. Shearwater during a recent cruise. He and Whiting, who is also well known at Esquimalt, were removed to the hospital at Kamloops. They were reported doing well and are expected to recover. Rowe, the cook, who was burned to death, was of H. M. S. Shearwater, not a civilian.

The draft left by the steamer Charming on Monday morning, following the arrival of the new crew for the warship on Sunday night. The contingent numbered 50 men, in charge of Lieut. Scott. It was first reported at Esquimalt yesterday morning that eight of the bluejackets were missing and believed to have been killed. Subsequently the following despatch was received by Captain Allgood of H. M. S. Shearwater from Lieut. Scott:

"Bad collision ten miles west of Kamloops. Whiting and Logan badly burned and in the hospital. Five men missing but are believed to be alive. All baggage, hammocks and belongings, with few exceptions, burnt."

New York, Nov. 13.—The fourth annual Canadian camp dinner was held tonight at the Hotel Astor with a roast boar from the preserves of the late Austin Corbin as the "piece de resistance."

Among the speakers were L. O. Armstrong, Charles G. D. Roberts, the author, Dr. J. C. Allen, Stephen P. M. Tasker, and General Cecil Clay.

MILE OF BRIDGE.

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 13.—William Whyte, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, and R. R. Jamieson of Calgary, western general superintendent, are in the city to confer with the city council in regard to the new high-level bridge from Strathcona across the river to Edmonton. This bridge will be a mile long, will cost approximately $1,000,000. Work on the bridge will be started this winter. The plan for the structure is to have railway and tramway tracks in the centre of the bridge, and on each side a vehicle trafficway and a footpath.

ROBBERS TERRORIZE CITY OF PITTSBURG

Houses Are Broken Into and Hold-ups Are Frequent on the Streets

PITTSBURG, Nov. 13.—Holdups on the streets of this city continue to come to light. Early today E. H. McMurray, a restaurant keeper, was accosted by two men on the street, McMurray had been held up the morning previous and had armed himself and when he drew his pistol the men fled, dropping a club. Later the dwelling of Mrs. Sarah Bassett, colored, in Second avenue, was entered by a burglar. Mrs. Bassett fired a shot at the man as he escaped over a side fence. Miss Mary McCauley, who had been visiting in the east end, was attacked and partly strangled on Centre avenue today. She screamed for help and soon several policemen chased the assailant, who escaped. Arrests are being made all over the city by the police. The department was shaken up today, a general transfer taking place.

POLICY HOLDERS' CASE HEARD BY COMMISSION

Important Suggestions Are Made by William Robins and W. Christie

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 13.—(Special)—Representatives of policy holders were heard before the Insurance commission today. Messrs. William Robins, of Walkerville and W. Christie, Toronto, for the policy holders, gave verbal statements which later on will be put in the form of a memorial. Some important suggestions were made. Representation of policy holders on insurance boards, widening of powers of company investments, government custody of securities, publicity in newspapers as well as in blue books, guarantee of substance as a preliminary to charters being granted and elimination of extraneous elements from insurance business were some of more important points suggested.

Members of the Life Managers association ridiculed the idea of state insurance in Canada. MacAulay of the Sun Life said such a department would be another intercolonial. The Managers also contended that legislation to limit a life company's expenses would be absolutely unreasonable and very objectionable. On the subject of individual control of companies they were not agreed. Some managers favored cumulative voting for directors, not however to apply to life insurance companies only, but to all companies doing business under the Companies' Act.

DELIVERS ULTIMATUM TO THE HOUSE OF LORDS

President of Board of Education States Case for Liberal Government

HOPES FOR CHANGE OF FRONT

Wants Upper House to Recognize in Committee That It Has Gone Too Far

B RISTOL, Eng., Nov. 13.—In a speech delivered here tonight, Augustine Birrell, president of the board of education, said the education bill as reconstructed in the House of Lords was a sheer impossibility. As the measure came from the House of Commons it was undenominational, but the House of Lords fostered and bolstered up denominationalism. Mr. Birrell said he hoped the Lords would recognize during the committee stage of the bill that they had gone too far, and that a Liberal government could not be carried on with advantage and sincerity if its pledges were mutilated and destroyed by an unrepresentative assembly.

London, Nov. 13.—The Liberal papers this morning comment upon the speech of Augustine Birrell, president of the board of education, at Bristol last night as an ultimatum on behalf of the government to the House of Lords. The Tribune declared the education bill is the last effort that will be made to reconcile popular control with religious education, and avers that if the present bill is destroyed, it will be substituted by not a denominational, but a secular system of religious education.

SAYS SPECULATION SAVED THE ONTARIO

Langton Under Cross-examination, Tells How McGill Once Made Profits

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—In the trial of Charles McGill this morning, J. L. Langton, former chief accountant of the Ontario Bank, was cross-examined by F. P. McKay, counsel for McGill. He declared that the bank would have collapsed in 1895 had it not been supported by brokers. He also declared that speculation on margins was begun to improve the condition of the bank, that operations on the stock market were carried on by McGill for the bank and not for himself personally. There was absolutely no doubt about this. Up to 1901 over $200,000 profits had been made in this way. As for "ticklers," other banks used them as well as the Ontario Bank.

This morning the Ontario Bank, on behalf of itself and all other creditors of George R. R. Cockburn, entered suit against Cockburn and his wife, Mary E. Cockburn, to have it declared that the conveyance made by Cockburn to his wife of property on Bay street is fraudulent, and also to prevent a sale of this property by Mrs. Cockburn.

KING EDWARD HONORS THE KING OF NORWAY

Ceremony of Order of Garter Most Brilliant of Present Reign

LONDON, Nov. 13.—King Edward tonight invested King Haakon of Norway with the Order of the Garter at a special charter held in the throne room of Windsor Castle. The investiture was attended with great pomp and ceremony. Although knights of the order are elected from time to time, as vacancies come, there has not been an investiture like the one of today since 1855, when the late Queen Victoria conferred the honor upon Napoleon III. and Victor Emmanuel, then King of Sardinia. King Edward is the only surviving member of the royal house of Great Britain who participated in that historic event.

Queen Alexandra as "the Lady of the Order," whose predecessors lived two centuries ago, was present tonight. The brilliant colors of the gorgeous robes of the knights and knight commanders of the order as well as the richness of the decorations of the historic chamber where the investiture took place, made the scene the most brilliant and impressive of the present reign. The ceremony was followed by a state banquet.

HOLD-UP MEN ARE LOCATED

Regina Ranchers Identify Themselves as Men Who Undid
Barber's Nerves

REPORT AT POLICE HEADQUARTERS

Tell Story of Lost Bearings and Guiding Star in the Darkness

The two "hold-up" men who undid the nerves of A. F. Barber of Vancouver on Sunday night have been located. Through the medium of the Colonist they discovered themselves at breakfast in a restaurant yesterday morning, and later in the day reported the fact to the police.

Arthur Rist and his cousin, William Rist, are the guilty ones. They are young Englishmen who for some time past have been ranching near Regina, Sask., and were drawn away from blizzard land by stories they had read and heard of beautiful scenery and moderate climate on the Pacific Coast. On Sunday evening, about 6:30, they landed from the steamer Chamer at the outer wharf, intending to go aboard the Spokane for San Francisco. Finding that they had a couple of hours to spare, they walked to town for supper, taking note of the courses of street railway tracks and the locations of various landmarks in order that they might easily find their way back.

Somehow on the return trip the cousins Rist lost their bearings. They were at Kingston and St. Lawrence streets when the electric lights went out, and they anchored there awaiting the approach of some guiding star. Mr. Barber of Vancouver, who in sight on the far side of the street.

"Wait here," said Arthur to William, "I will go over and ask that gentleman to direct us."

William leaned against a fence-post while Arthur made a quick move across the street in the direction of the stranger.

"I say," said Arthur, but he did not get a chance to say nearly as much as he wanted to. The stranger brought himself up with a quick jerk, rapidly executed a few sword movements with his umbrella, muttered "No, you don't," and then made a bound through the confusing darkness towards the residence where William was holding up the fence.

"I say, old chap," shouted Arthur, who, having recovered from his own fright, quickly realized that he had frightened the stranger, and made a sprint for him with the intention of reassuring him. Arthur reached the gate just as Barber had fallen up against the house and was excitedly attempting to make a knob handle answer the use of a door bell.

"You might tell me the direction of the ocean wharf," said Arthur.

"Straight ahead of you," gasped Barber, "keep away from me."

"Come on, Willie," said Arthur, whereupon Cousin William emerged from the gloom at the corner, and the two proceeded straight ahead. But they were some time locating the outer wharf, and when they found it the Spokane had departed. They then came back to the city, feeling very angry at the man who might have assisted them to reach their boat in time.

Next morning at breakfast the cousins Rist were perusing the Colonist when the hold-up story caught their attention. They talked it over with a man who had been a fellow-passenger on the Chamer, and on his advice decided to take no chance of being placed under suspicion. They accordingly told their story at police headquarters. They will proceed to San Francisco on the next steamer bound for that port.

HOSPITAL CINDERELLA.

Arrangements Looking to Success of Children's Annual Hop.

Arrangements are about complete for the annual Cinderella to be given under the auspices of the Daughters of Pity, Provincial Royal Jubilee hospital, on Friday evening next, the 16th inst. in the A. O. U. W. hall, Yates street. The following gentlemen have kindly consented to act as floor committee: Colonel Gregson, H. T. V. Muskett, Charles Wilson, Mr. Julier, James Lawson, H. G. Dalley, R. B. Powell, J. Macon, J. Cambie, Darrell Kent and Frank Clarke.

The net proceeds of the entertainment are to go towards the completion of the sum necessary to add a sun room veranda to the children's ward, and, as only a sum of $200 more is needed, it is hoped that, after Friday, this addition may be promptly added to the beautiful new ward just erected at the hospital, towards the building and furnishing of which the "Children of Victoria," have already largely contributed.

The decoration and refreshment committee are asked to meet at the hall on Friday morning as early as possible—and to see that trailing ivy, some bunting and flowers for the entrance are in hand. The dining room is in charge of Mrs. C. Jenner, and a committee of young ladies, while all members of the society willing to assist, are asked to help the committee in the general decoration of the hall. Doors will be open at 7 p. m. for the younger section of the guests, the admission being as in past years, fifty cents a head for mothers, or chaperones with children; one dollar for dancing adults and others. Miss Thain's orchestra will be in attendance. Contributions of cake, sandwiches, candy, fruit or groceries will be gladly received at the hall as early as Friday as is convenient to the donors.

A. C. McCALLUM JOINS

AMERICAN TRUST CO.

Will Manage Realty Department and Business Will Be Extended to Winnipeg

A. Campbell McCallum, who is well and favorably known in Victoria, has joined the British America Trust Company and will assume the management of the company's land and real estate department.

Few men in the province have had a greater experience than Mr. McCallum, and no doubt the appointment will prove satisfactory and profitable to the company, which has made such rapid strides during the past year.

In conversation with a Colonist reporter Mr. McCallum said the company's intention to extend the company's business as far east as Winnipeg. This move is contemplated owing to the great demand in the prairie provinces for Victoria and Vancouver Island realty. In fact, every mail brings notices from Winnipeg and adjacent points regarding the climate and vast resources of this portion of the province. Heretofore the company has adopted a progressive policy, and intends to continue along these lines. Our main object shall be to thoroughly acquaint intending purchasers with accurate information on all matters relating to the province, and in so doing it is reasonable to expect that the trust company will share in the general prosperity that is so marked in our city. At present offices have been established in Vancouver, Grand Forks, Victoria, and Spokane, Wash.

Nicola, Nov. 8.—The C. P. R. branch has reached the village of Nicola. The work of ballasting is well under way and soon the line will be ready for passenger traffic.

M. L. Grimmet, LL. B., formerly of Sandon, leaves for Vancouver to bring in Mrs. Grimmet and family. A new dwelling and office have been erected in Nicola village.

The Y for a turning table is also ready, and a force of men are at work getting the material ready for erecting a station, a freight shed and a barn for the engine.

Now that the townsites have been put on the market, and with improved facilities for transportation, Nicola will go ahead.

We have had a couple of days' rain in the valley, the mountains are covered with snow, and there is a heavy snow-fall this evening, with strong wind from the northeast.

Vernon (Groski, of McDonald & Foss, was taken ill with pneumonia and removed to the hospital. He is being treated by Dr. Ker, who is the physician for the construction camp.

The public school is crowded and more new seats will have to be provided for the increasing number of pupils. Miss Robson, B. A., of New Westminster, is the principal. A large class is working very hard for the high school entrance, and are doing thorough work.

The young people of Lower Nicola are organized into a league, and will provide pleasant evenings during the winter months.

Rev. James Allen, M. A., of Toronto, the newly-appointed secretary of home missions of the Methodist church, expects to visit next year's conference to be held in the city of Vernon next May.

EVIDENCES AGAINST ALLEGED GAMBLERS

Seven Men Arrested in Chinatown Raid on Trial in the Police Court

Seven Chinese captured in the police raid on the alleged gambling den at 35 Fisguard street, upstairs, were charged before Police Magistrate Hall yesterday morning with being in a gambling house. H. B. Robertson appeared for the defence.

The door marked with the dents of the sledge, some small pieces of gambling apparatus were produced in evidence, and the raiding squad was called to tell of the entry into the place and the circumstances under which the accused were captured.

Chief Langley, Detectives Perdue, Macdonald and O'Leary and Sergeant Redgrave told the same story. There had been a watchman at the street corner, who had slammed this door and ran. They had hurried to an entrance up two flights of stairs, which was slammed and barred. Detective O'Leary swung the sledgehammer and effected an entrance. The breaking of the door occupied several minutes, and in the interim the majority of those inside the premises escaped through a trapdoor. Several of the officers swung the hammer before the door was finally broken. The tables, four or five in number, were in position similarly to those of fan-tan houses, and seven men who had failed to escape with the others were arrested.

Each of the officers gave similar evidence. Then one of the accused was called and gave evidence denying that those arrested had been gambling. The witness claimed to have been asleep and was awakened when the police battered at the door. The case was remanded until Friday morning.

Pedro Moleno, the Chillan seaman accused of stealing $65 from another sailor, was dismissed, owing to the informant failing to appear against him.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 13.—Armed bandits held up the Southern Pacific Overland Limited westbound at Carlin, Nev., Sunday night, and escaped with the suit cases of passengers and the money sack of Conductor Conn. Railroad men at Sparks say that the robbers got about $1,000 in all. A posse was formed and a fight took place at the edge of Carlin, but no one was injured. Southern Pacific detectives and deputy sheriffs are now on the trail of the robbers. Carlin is a divisional point.

School Children Face Dangers

Work, Worry and Close Confinement—
How They can be Safe-guarded.

To thousands of boys and girls the confinement in the schoolroom imposed by their studies is a very serious strain. Many become broken in health and are physically weakened for life.

If you give your boys and girls pure, healthful, strengthening food you go far toward removing all dangers. We recommend above all others Malta-Vita as especially beneficial to school children. It is a crisp, delicious, whole-wheat food containing every element necessary to the upbuilding of the body and brain. "Malta-Vita" in its literal translation from the Latin means "Malta-Life." The original phrase "For the blood is the life" is the winning point of Malta-Vita. On account of its large percentage of maltose, or malt sugar, a natural sweetening agent, it is easily digestible, readily assimilated and the best food to form rich, healthy blood.

Malta-Vita is not at all like the tasteless variety of flaked breakfast foods—the whole family welcomes its appearance on the table. Always ready to eat. On a cold morning try it with hot milk or cream. All grocers.

WILL IMPROVE PLANT AT CROFTON SMELTER

Howe Sound Copper Co. to In- stall a 600 Ton Furnace at Once

Mason T. Adams, of New York, the newly-appointed manager of the Howe Sound Copper company, has just completed a three months' tour of inspection of the various properties controlled by the late George H. Robinson and his associates. It is reported that under the new management extensive improvements will be made both at the Britannia mines and at the Crofton smelter. At the mines it is probable that another aerial tramline will be installed. The present tram cannot handle more than 600 tons per day. The daily output of ore at the mine is far in excess of this amount, and much more could be got out of it were possible to get it over the intervening three miles to tide water. The water supply is also to be improved by some method of conservation. Last summer, during the hot weather, Britannia creek fell so low as to cause great inconvenience in the operation of the concentrating plant, which consumes a great deal of water. In addition to this the hydro-electric plant at the beach makes a heavy demand on the water supply. Plans for the installation of a 600-ton furnace at the smelter at Crofton are also under consideration. Mr. Adams will also have control of the Mount Andrews mines at Prince of Wales Island. He was appointed to his position on the resignation of Henry Stern, who found that he had not sufficient time to devote to the work.

CROWS NEST MINERS ARE AT WORK AGAIN

Terms of Settlement Arranged by Union Delegate and General Manager

Fernie, Nov. 13.—A number of the miners who for the past few weeks have been on strike here and at Michel resumed work this morning, but it will necessarily be some time before the collieries can again operate at full force.

The settlement is regarded as a moral victory for the company. Mr. Burke, the delegate sent here by President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America, having conceded that the company was correct in all its contentions. At Mr. Burke's request, General Manager Lindsey agreed to waive all questions of compensation for the monetary loss on behalf of the company.

The following is the memorandum of the agreement of settlement:—
"I, Thomas Burke, acting for President Mitchell, and sent to Fernie by him to settle the strike, find that the Crows Nest Coal company was promised by the Fernie article 2, on or after the said date, the agreement of May 23rd, 1905.

"That there would be no refusal to work with non-union men.

"That the issue of the closed shop would not be raised.

"That President Mitchell would not permit a strike for the purpose of securing a better wage.

"That it was relying on the faith of these promises that the discrimination clause in the previous agreement was omitted from the agreement of May 23rd, 1905.

"I further say that President Mitchell, had he been advised of the aforesaid promises, would not have ordered a strike nor sent his telegram dated September 11th, 1905.

"It is, therefore, agreed between myself and Mr. Lindsey, acting for the Crows Nest Coal Co.

"That there shall be no discrimination against union men against non-union men or refusal to work with non-union men.

"That all men who joined the United Mine Workers of America since September 11th, 1905, and signed a declaration of non-unionism, shall be released from the said organization, and their signatures to such orders shall be and are cancelled, and they may rejoin and resign at their option.

"That the moneys collected for the union by the company due October 8th from the September pay roll, shall be paid over to the union.

"That inasmuch as the present check-off does not last for the life of the agreement, a check-off order is to be prepared and substituted for it, which will last for the life of the agreement, and this when signed, the company will accept."

INDIAN LEGEND.

On the far distant coast of Washington where the Hoh and the Queets come down from the snowy peaks of the Olympic mountains, and pour their rushing waters into the surf of the Pacific, lie the picturesque camps of the Queets Indians.

Into this isolated and distant spot few white men find their way, as beyond the grandeur of the lofty range of glistering peaks and the constant thunder of the surf, little tempts the stranger to force his way further along the coast where nothing new awaits him until he reaches the even more inhospitable rocks of Platter at the entrance to the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

Only a few teepees remain of what must once have been a strong and stalwart tribe of hunters, but it would be hard to find any Indians more expert or daring than are these Queets braves in the launching of their long canoes through the tumbling surf, and in capturing the rich prize of a sea otter, whose valuable fur when sold will supply their wants for an entire year.

Rarely can an Indian be tempted to talk of the almost sacred things which happened so long ago that even the most aged member of the tribe knows only that in his childhood one knew how old the story was. But old Halasum once, under the mellowing influence of having sold some furs, and seeing the great quantities of muckmuck, or good things to eat, which his prize had brought, was led to tell the mystery to Mr. Damon's son of how the stars were made in the long ago when men were stronger far than now, and when even the beasts as well as men took counsel together in all the affairs of life.

In this distant time, when all the world was young, and perhaps when Indian maidens were even more beautiful than they are today, a party of happy Indians were gathering the blossoming camas in the springtime. Among them was the daughter of the chief, the fairest of them all, and a girl of wondrous beauty and brightness of face. The father of her many suitors and the knowledge of her striking beauty grew upon her, until in her vanity and reckless pride, she even dared to scoff at the Great Spirit, and looking into the heavens had even ventured to brave his wrath by laughing at the lightning bolts, but even as she looked in bold and impious laughter, her punishment swiftly came, for the mighty God himself seized her in his anger and carried her high into the heavens, until, in the fading distance, the beauty of her face seemed but a shining speck far in the distant sky.

In horror and amazement the terror-stricken party fled, but the punishment was ended, and looking back the single shining star alone remained to witness of the tragedy. When courage grew, and all the tribes and beasts gathered to hold a mighty council, much was said, and many plans discussed to find a way if possible, to rescue and regain their lost and honored princess. Back and forth the argument ran, but all in vain, for high above the distant star shone faintly in the heavens, and even the great whales, whose bounding wings rolled in thunder amidst the clouds turned back their flights in disappointment. At last in desperation the stricken chief himself, the strongest and bravest of the tribe, seized his great bow in anger, and with all his strength shot his fleetest arrow straight into the sky. All watched its flight, and to their amazement on it flew until it struck and held in the firm floor of the firmament above.

At this their hopes revived, and quickly shooting others into the hafts of those above, a pole of arrows soon extended from the heavens to the earth. Up this the whole assembly climbed and warfare waged against the hosts of heaven, but neither side could overwhelm the other, and all their many battles resulted ever in a draw. At last a council met to see if ought could be done to win the victory, and among them all the little one, the mouse, spoke up and said he thought he knew "a" way. The others laughed but listened, and as he planned unfolded their hopes arose and they applauded.

So, in the night when all of heaven's warriors were asleep, the little mouse ran swiftly to their camps and gnawed the strings of all their bows, and fled with joy to tell of his success. At once the Indians and all the beasts attacked and won a glorious victory, and soon recaptured their imprisoned princess. Then with tales they clambered down their pole of arrows to the earth; but in their joy and haste they crowded fast, and with too much weight at last the slender pole asunder came and half were left above. Far down below the needy ones looked up, and as they looked, instead of one, the princess came, and there they still remain, bright stars throughout the heavens—Frank W. Hinsdale, in Wilhelm's Magazine.

The Right Kind of a Friend.

Advice is cheap; almost anyone is willing to give it gratis, but when a man backs it up with hard-earned dollars then you may count him as a real friend. Lucy Suddreth, of Lenoir, N. C., had been troubled with a very bad cough for over a year. She says: "A friend told me about Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, but as I had tried several cough medicines and none of them did me any good, I had no faith in it, did not get it and went on coughing. Later on my friend bought a bottle of it, brought it to me and insisted that I should take it. I did so and to my surprise it helped me. Four bottles of it cured me of my cough." ## HIS GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY.

Success. A Baltimore man tells of an address made to some school children in that city by a member of the Board of Trustees:—"My young friends," said the speaker, "let me urge upon you the necessity of not only reading good books, but also of owning them, so that you may have access to them at all times. Why, when I was a young man I used frequently to work all night to earn money to buy books, and then get up before daylight to read them."

"They say that old Compton, the banker, has untold wealth." "Yes, that's what the tax-collector suspects."

After a more severe reproof than usual, little Bessie, who is extraordinarily sensitive, thought diligently for a minute, and then said—"Mamma, isn't there any way a child can get a divorce from his parents?"

SUFFERINGS OF WRECK SURVIVORS

Further Particulars of Loss of Steamer Charterhouse During Typhoon

SEVENTY LIVES WERE LOST

W. A. Dowse, Sole European Left Alive, Tells of Disaster—Was Three Days on Raft

Further details of the loss of the British steamer Charterhouse, of which brigaded advices have already been published in these columns, were brought by R. M. S. Empress of China on Monday. One European officer and 26 Chinese survived, being picked up by the Norddeutscher Lloyd steamer Kohsi, being 60 miles off Hainan Head, after being at sea for three days on a raft. Seventy were drowned, including seven European members of the crew. The Charterhouse was on a voyage from Singapore to Hongkong via Hoihow, and was foundered during a typhoon. The steamer was formerly the Blue Funnel liner Stentor, sold to a Singapore Chinese when the new and larger Stentor was built.

The ship foundered in lat. 20.45 north. The sole European survivor, W. A. Dowse, who calculated that 70 persons were lost, gave the following names of deck officers and engineers missing: H. Clifton, master; Farquharson, chief officer; Gregor, second officer; C. Forbes, second engineer; A. Mairmann, third engineer.

The story as told by Mr. Dowse was as follows: "We were on a voyage from Singapore to Hongkong via Hoihow, and left the latter port on Friday, Sept. 28, at 3.30 p. m. We encountered the typhoon at 10 p. m., the wind increasing in velocity up to 2.30 a. m. on Saturday, when the engines were reduced to slow. The weather still became worse, huge seas breaking over the vessel and causing damage to deck fittings, till at 9 p. m. the word was passed round that the ship was foundering. We got the boats ready, and called the passengers on deck. So heavy was the sea, however, that it was impossible to launch them; all had simply to wait until the ship sank and then take their chance. In the meanwhile, we were calling out for the second officer, who was not to be found. I was talking to him on the upper deck about ten minutes before this, and the only conclusion we could come to was that he must have been washed overboard while going aft, as the rails were all gone. When the vessel sank, the only boat to get away was the after one. The rest were all broken up and the one Europeans were in capsized. I managed to extricate myself from the latter by swimming under it, and caught hold of a raft that was floating near. There were also six Chinese men and a boy on the same raft. The only European afterwards heard of anything of were the three second engineers, who had got on another raft. They sang out that they were all right. Some little time afterwards I lost sight of both this raft and the boat, until Sunday afternoon, when I again came across the raft with two of the firemen on it, and we remained in company till evening. I picked up an empty raft and lashed the two together, as we were cramped for room and could not lie down. I saw nothing more until Monday afternoon, when I sighted the lifeboat ahead drifting in the same direction as we were. The next morning I could see nothing of her. On the evening we saw the smoke of a steamer and thought we should all go mad with excitement. We had been on the raft all this time without food or water. The vessel turned out to be the Norddeutscher Lloyd steamship Kohsi, capt. Riebelack, first saw the lifeboat and picked her up. The body of one Chinaman who had succumbed to exposure was here discovered, and there were two female passengers, one of whom had a baby, which died shortly after being taken on board. The captain then picked up the two firemen and then my lot. Though a very keen lookout was kept by the steamer nothing further was seen."

LONE HUNTER'S PLIGHT.

Ill in Cabin in Bulkley Valley, With Wolves as Companions.

All alone in a cabin surrounded by a thick forest where no other human life had possibly ever penetrated, and the piteous howling of wolves alone broke the awful silence, J. M. O'Neill lay for days that seemed centuries, suffering from typhoid fever with no one but himself to prepare his food and keep his fire alight says the Vancouver World. For nearly fourteen days Mr. O'Neill was scarcely able to leave his bed, so weak and sick was he; but a fire had to be kept going and something had to be cooked in order that he might keep himself alive. Two or three days did pass

CONSTIPATION CLOGS THE BOWELS

No other cause produces so much sickness as constipation, and therefore it is dangerous to allow the bowels to become clogged up. Bad blood, dyspepsia, headaches, biliousness, boils, pimples, and piles, are all caused by constipation.

Avoid all of these troubles by the use of nature's remedy for all diseases of the stomach, bowels and blood. It acts on the bowels and promotes their free and regular action, curing constipation and all troubles which arise from it. It has been on the market for over thirty years so you are not using a new and untried remedy. B.B.B. has cured thousands of others and will cure you. Mr. B. Woodcock, Nashua, Bridge, N.S., writes: "For over two years my wife was troubled with constipation. She tried several physicians but could get no relief, but after taking three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters she was completely cured and is to-day in good health. My wife and I cannot speak too highly of B.B.B."

without his eating a bite of anything or kindling a fire, which increased his suffering. The food he had would have been good enough for one enjoying ordinary health, but for one so low as he was it felt like risking his life to attempt it.

Mr. O'Neill came down on the steamer Camosun last night from Port Essington. He had been working with a survey party all summer in the Bulkley valley and when the work was done for the year, he remained behind to spend a week or two hunting, while the other men took the steamer down to Port Essington en route south.

Leaving the valley for the high lands Mr. O'Neill struck out. The first night was spent in the open and the following day he started to build a cabin. Having all the necessary equipment, he soon had a temporary abode which he finished by working a few hours each morning and evening. The days were beautiful and success always awarded his trip from camp for game. The nights, however, were cold and damp and sleeping in the open had given him a cold from which was taken ill.

This made the completion of his cabin imperative and extra hard work was done to put it in decent shape. But he kept getting worse; his appetite was failing and his strength was slowly giving way. He gathered up more game for food for burning purposes and two big carcasses of deer were hung outside his cabin. Suddenly he was taken seriously ill and for two days he never put a morsel of food near his mouth. He grew worse and something had to be done. He made more days were spent in the cabin and at the end of that time, he had considerably improved. Losing no time, he made out for the nearest habitation and after traveling all day, reached a farmer's house. The following day he was taken to Wildermere, where he was placed under the doctor's care and only then did he realize the nature of his sickness.

THREE MEN AND BOY LOSE LIVES IN FIRE

Others Escape by Jumping From a Second Storey Window of House

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Two men lost their lives in a fire which destroyed Weeks' Hotel here early today. The fire is believed to have been of incendiary origin. The men burned to death were William O'Brien, 36 years of age, and William Kane, 33 years of age, both brick-layers.

Paoli, Ind., Nov. 13.—Vincent Moore, aged 55 years, and Raymond Moore, his son, aged 11 years, were burned to death in their home last night. Three other members of the family escaped by jumping from a second storey window. They received slight injuries.

LEPER STATION IS TO BE MUCH IMPROVED

Health Department of Federal Government Preparing Plans for Buildings

The improvement of the conditions of the lepers, whose lives must be spent apart from their fellows upon Darcy Island, is a problem with which officials of the Dominion government are reported to be grappling. It is not so very long ago since the federal authorities undertook the maintenance of this lazaretto. Originally it was conducted by the corporation, then it was taken over by the provincial government, and now it is in the hands of the Dominion. Soon after assuming the responsibility it was reported that the latter intended changing the site of the institution, that it was planned to place it at Albert Head or at some other point adjacent to the coast. This rumor, however, proved without foundation and now it is stated that the government is not only satisfied with Darcy island but contemplated many improvements—alterations necessary in order to brighten the lives of these unfortunate lepers.

Dr. Watt, of the William's Head quarantine station, made a visit to eastern Canada a month or so ago. While there he made a close inspection of the lazaretto at Tracadie, N. B. To a Colonial representative he expressed himself as impressed with the system in vogue in securing an audience with the institution. There, he said, the patients were kept in large brick buildings, surrounded by beautifully kept gardens. They were accorded every care and attention and everything possible done to make their lonely lives as pleasant as circumstances would permit.

Some alterations have already been made at Darcy island. A man has been placed in charge and will be stationed there permanently and, in other ways, the station has been made brighter and much more habitable than heretofore. The new station, from which the lepers are to be removed, is the construction of more buildings on the plans of those at Tracadie. So far nothing definite has been done in this direction. It is understood that Dr. Watt intends making a trip to the island at an early date largely for the purpose of inspection and that the government may be the forwarding of recommendations for various improvements.

Those who have visited the lepers at their British Columbia home have always come away with a longing to better their condition in some way. Completely isolated from the world, and with nothing but agricultural pursuits to occupy the whole of their time and attention, they present a pitiable spectacle.

As far as scenery, climate, and general natural surroundings are concerned, the lepers are in a most favorable position, upon which they have been placed, and the other day he sent for a painter. "I want these floors polished," he said to the man, as he led him about the house. "I don't care how long it takes, I want these floors polished, I think," said Mr. Day's host, a resident of Rittenhouse Square.

FRUIT INSPECTOR ON REGULATION NEEDS

Information to Guide Importers and Growers of Fruit and Trees

The following official communication from Thomas Cunningham provincial fruit inspector contains references to many matters of vital interest to fruit growers, consumers and importers in this locality, and is given publicity in the interests of all these classes:

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 5, 1906.
Fred Adie, Esq., Quarantine Officer, Waukegan, B. C.

Dear Mr. Adie—I should have written to you on receipt of your telegram of the 1st instant only that I was desirous of receiving further particulars of the two cars of infected apples; one shipped to Grand Forks met a similar fate. Our Rossland inspector has not yet reported on the car to which you refer. I am writing today for full particulars.

We are receiving very loyal support from the press, as will be seen by the two papers which I am sending under separate cover.

We have been condemning large quantities of locally grown fruit; in point of fact, we permit no diseased, inferior fruit to be placed on the market at all. We find the public so well pleased at the improved character of the fruit in consequence of this strict inspection that we are constantly urged to keep up the good work.

Another good thing is accomplished by this strict inspection. Owners of orchards are being compelled to clean them. When we cut off the revenue from the orchard, the growers must either clean or cut down the trees. If this thorough work has been somewhat neglected in the past, it was because we had not a sufficient supply of clean, home-grown fruit. Now that there is a great abundance of fruit of the very highest character, we begin a campaign of orchard cleaning.

Referring again to the shipment through British Columbia to the Northwest provinces of condemned fruit, this must never be permitted under any circumstances. We have never before parties to the indictment on our neighbors of American fruit which is not fit to be sold in our own markets. We do not permit our own people to export diseased fruit; then why should we concede a privilege to the foreign, slovenly grower which we deny to our own people? We pay American growers clean money, and have a right to demand that they send us clean fruit.

Regarding the scarcity of fruit in Nelson to which you refer, I have just wired the facts to some large fruit grower in Oregon, where there is an abundance of very superior apples and pears. The impression prevails all over the province that Kootenay fruit growers have sufficient fruit to supply the local markets; the statements published in the press from time to time would lead many people to infer that Kootenay is self-supporting as far as the fruit market is concerned. However, I think my telegrams will result in supplies being forthcoming immediately.

"Twice I have been on my way to visit you, but urgent business here and in Victoria brought me back. However, I hope to see you soon. We have had the largest fall shipments in our history; two more cars are due today. Some of the stock is strictly first class, but unfortunately the Eastern (trees are not turning out well); they were dug too early, packed when they were full of sap, active fermentation was set up, resulting in the total destruction of the cambium. Although we condemned some 2,500 trees out of one car, I am still doubtful if the life of the remainder of the car will be saved. It is sure to be followed by Anthracnose and other diseases of the bark.

The true and only sensible remedy for all these troubles is the purchase of our home-grown trees, propagated by men of first class reputation who are in every way responsible to the purchasers, rather than placing orders with nurseries 3,000 miles distant. I am weary of condemning and destroying infected nursery stock. The time occupied with this most unpleasant duty should be given to our people, the growers, the greater wisdom and let up on importing and paying for in cash, that which we can and should supply within ourselves. The exploitation of this unfortunate country is a sad history.

Remember that you are doing your duty faithfully; keep up the good work. Some day the reward will come. We are all very busy here; season is remarkably mild; a good time for planting. With kind regards,

THOMAS CUNNINGHAM.

WAITING YET.

Washington Star.
One of the stock questions of the news-writers is, when will the state department every day relate to the status of Ambassador Leishman at Constantinople. Since his elevation to ambassadorial rank he has failed to secure an audience with the sultan, who, as is well known, is in feeble health. To the usual question, "Has Mr. Leishman been received?" the stereotyped reply, "Not yet," is given.

When this formula had been gone through with the other day Assistant Secretary Adie wailed loudly, and said the sultan at Constantinople was like that a man with a rent in his trousers. The man went into a tailor shop which displayed a sign, "Haven't you fixed those trousers yet?"

"Not yet," replied the tailor.
"Why, what's the matter?" he asked, somewhat impatiently. "Your sign says, 'Trousers mended while you wait.'"

"Oh, that's all right," answered back the tailor, with the slightest tinge of a smile. "You're waiting yet, ain't you?"
Ambassador Leishman, said Mr. Adie, is still waiting.

THE STRIKE SETTLED.

The settlement of the Fernie strike through the exertions of the provincial government is a cause for great satisfaction, and congratulations are in order to those who have been instrumental in bringing about such an excellent result. The Colonist has been aware for some time of the earnest desire of the ministers to bring the unfortunate condition of things prevailing at Fernie to a speedy conclusion, and has refrained from commenting thereon for two reasons, one being a desire that the representatives of the government should have an absolutely free hand, so far as public comment was concerned, and the other a fear that the bitterness, characterizing local politics, would find expression in hostile comments, calculated to prejudice the miners against the government's efforts. It is exceedingly unfortunate that this disposition to bitter criticism should have gained such a hold upon the Opposition press, but it is there, and has to be taken account of in the consideration of every public question.

The strike threatened to have a very serious effect upon important industries in the province and to put the people of Alberta to very great inconvenience. A shortage of coke would have interfered with the operation of the Kootenay mines and smelters at a time when the business was getting upon an exceedingly satisfactory basis. It would have created a more or less general fuel famine in the province of Alberta, a very serious thing to be contemplated at the beginning of winter. During the absence of Mr. McBride in the East, his colleagues here gave the matter their earnest consideration and took, in as quiet a way as possible, every step that seemed likely to promote a settlement, and on the Premier's return, he entered into the work with a determination to bring things to a satisfactory conclusion if it was possible. The result is very gratifying, and incidentally it casts light upon a line of duty, which devolves upon governments nowadays. On several occasions the Dominion government has been able to use its good offices to settle labor troubles; on others the various provincial governments have done so. These are among the most difficult functions, which governments are called upon to exercise, because the relations between workmen and their employers are necessarily of a delicate character. That the work of conciliation has been on so many occasions successful in Canada is a matter for profound satisfaction, and perhaps there has been no instance, where the matters at issue seemed harder to settle and where the effect of a failure would have been more mischievous than the strike at Fernie, now so happily brought to a conclusion.

THE EXHIBITION BY-LAW.

On Thursday the ratepayers will have to decide upon the proposal to purchase the sixty-three acres, which adjoin the Exhibition grounds and include the race track. The price is $40,000. They are also asked to authorize the expenditure of $10,000 on improvements on the Exhibition building and the land to be acquired, making in all $50,000 to be borrowed. The purchase proposed is, from a real estate standpoint, a good investment. On this point we refer readers to the letter of Mr. R. A. C. Grant, published elsewhere in this issue. Mr. Grant's views will be borne out by any one who is in touch with real estate values. A block of sixty-three acres within a few minutes walk of a car line need not go begging for a purchaser at that price. So much for the question of value. We concede that a city is not supposed to go into speculative real estate business, but it is always desirable that, when a municipality buys property, it ought not to pay more than it would bring, if sold to a private individual.

As to the desirability of the city owning the property, it all turns upon the desirability of continuing our fall fairs. If it is intended to continue these, it is absolutely necessary to keep the race track for a race track, not simply for the purpose of having what used to be called "agricultural horse-trots," but as a place for stock exhibitions. Of recent years the gentlemen in charge of the exhibitions have realized fully the value of live stock exhibits in connection with a fair. We do not now mean a lot of animals arranged in stalls, but animals shown in the open. It is the finest part of a show. Racing does not compare in general interest with it. Year by year this feature of our exhibitions is being made more of, and it is absolutely necessary, if we are going to keep up the exhibitions, to have more ground. Another consideration is that the city is rapidly growing in population, and will have every year hereafter a larger leisure class. These people will find many ways in which to make such a use of a race track as will add to the attractions of the city. The consolidation of all the island fairs at Victoria, that is now mooted and stands a fair chance of being successful, would be an excellent thing, not only for all the localities participating but especially for Victoria. It would tend to concentrate the interest of the farming population of the Island upon Victoria. This consolidation will hardly be possible if the land in question is not acquired. It will be good policy for the city to buy the tract, and we hope the ratepayers, who think so will turn out and vote. Those opposed to the purchase will be sure to be in evidence.

BOYCOTTED.

The Colonist has been notified by an eastern publishing house that it will not be favored with its books for review until we cease publishing a Sunday paper. We shall endeavor to struggle along as best we can under this boycott; but we prefer to permit the employees of the Colonist to have Sunday as a day of rest, rather than receive occasionally a book for which we give in return advertising worth in cash several times its price.

It is exceedingly difficult to understand the preference of certain people, for a Monday paper over one printed on Sunday. When a paper is issued on Monday morning, the employees must go to work about noon on Sunday. In the old days of hand composition even the type-setters had to go to the office on Sunday afternoon to fill their case, although they might, if they chose, fill them on Saturday afternoon. Now they would not need to come to their work before evening; but they are only a very small part of those who have to be considered. The editorial staff, and some members of the business staff must be on hand at least half the day. Advertisers in such cases get up their advertisements on Sunday. Telegraph operators must work on Sunday. People must be seen on news subjects on Sunday, and even preachers very often find it convenient to drop into newspaper offices after their Sunday services to see that they get good reports in Monday morning's papers. The writer of this paragraph sat in his office one Sunday night, while a minister corrected the report of a sermon, which he had preached that day on Sunday observance, and in which he had condemned the Sunday newspaper.

On a Sunday paper every employee of the office has that day as one of rest. If he wishes to go to church, he can do so. He does not have to hunt people up at their homes to get news items from them. He does not have to importune the telegraph office for press reports. He does not have to keep his correspondents all over the country on the quiver to send him news. He has his Sundays like all men ought to have them, as days for worship, rest and recreation, just as he feels inclined.

It is a matter of regret that we are boycotted because we remember the Sabbath Day and keep it holy, so far as abstention from unnecessary work is concerned; but we are not the first people to be persecuted because they did not choose to obey the mandates of bigots. We shall struggle along as best we can, endeavoring to give readers of the Colonist every Sunday morning a paper that will not only tell them what the news of the day is, but will give them matter to read that will not unfit them for the duties of life, and possibly may be as beneficial to them morally as the smug platitudes of people who fancy themselves so much holier than every one else.

GET TO THE POINT.

Will the Times, in its hostility to the province, kindly get down to the point? What is there about the demand for better terms that it objects to? Will it not try to be specific? It is playing into the hands of the opponents of the province with all the vigor and all the vituperation at its command; but why will it not tell us what there is wrong about the provincial claims? We ask it again to answer these questions:

Does it believe the province has a case for better terms?

Does it believe that $100,000 a year for ten years, even with $40,000 additional for ten years and $30,000 in perpetuity, would be a just compensation for what its political leader calls exceptional expenditures rendered necessary by permanent conditions?

These are the issues. Get to the point, and answer the questions. The Times is the property of the Hon. Mr. Templeman. Mr. Templeman is the representative of British Columbia in the Dominion Cabinet. The Times has told us that Mr. Templeman is not responsible for what appears in its columns from day to day, which statement we have accepted and congratulated Mr. Templeman upon it. But several weeks have passed since Mr. McBride left Ottawa, and it is utterly impossible that Mr. Templeman can be in ignorance of the fact that his newspaper is devoting all its energies to strengthening the hands of those opponents of the province in the East, who are hostile to the claims of British Columbia. The Colonist has avoided any reference to the Minister of Inland Revenue in this matter as long as possible, because it desires to act fairly by all public men, and it recognizes the burdensome nature of the duties imposed upon members of the Dominion Cabinet. But the time has come to speak. His newspaper day after day passes the limits of courteous discussion, to state the case mildly, in its references to the provincial ministers. It displays a striking degree of ingenuity in discovering reasons why better terms should not be granted, and the public have a right to know if, in so doing, it correctly represents Mr. Templeman's view of the case. We are quite satisfied that it does not voice his opinions as to how public men should be spoken of. It does not treat its political opponents, as he treats them in his speeches. It does not refer to them as he would like newspapers to refer to him.

In view of these considerations, we ask the Times to tell us definitely where it stands, and whether in its vituperation tion of its opponents, and its hostility to the just claims of the province, it is to be understood as voicing the sentiments of Mr. Templeman and the Liberal party in British Columbia. We also ask the leaders of that party, if the tactics pursued by their leading paper commend themselves to them? Are they also going to play into the hands of the opponents of the province? Are they also preparing to enter upon a campaign of Billingsgate? It is time that these things were understood.

"STAND BY THE GUNS."

Mr. McBride, speaking at Duncan, said that the only thing for British Columbia to do on the better terms question is "to stand by the guns." We wish that his appreciation of the necessities of the case was more generally recognized by the public men of the province, but we have yet to see the first declaration by a Liberal leader that we should continue to press for a full measure of justice. Of criticisms of Mr. McBride's course of action there have been plenty. We have been told over and over again that he ought not to have done this, that or the other thing; but we are not told what we ought to do now. No honest man can say that the case of the province does not stand in a better position as the result of Mr. McBride's visit to Ottawa than it ever did. The exceptional nature of our claims has been admitted both by the Dominion government and all the provinces as represented by their respective premiers. This is a substantial advantage. It clears the ground for future action. It will never be necessary for a representative of this province to plead for the recognition of its special claims. The only thing at issue is as to the amount which we ought to receive, and as much as the province needs the money, we can better afford to wait, than to accept an amount, which every voter in British Columbia knows is inadequate. Let us stand by our guns.

And so Beacon Hill Park is to be kept intact. The city council has done the right thing this time.

The citizens will be glad to learn that steps are about to be taken to clean Elk and Beaver lakes and fence in the former.

An up-country paper says that Mr. McBride refused the additional grant of $115,000 a year for legislative and administrative purposes. He did nothing of the kind.

And now the Times tells us that it did not mean that the government should have kept the Vancouver townsite off the market. If it did not mean this, why did it say that the government might be now in receipt of a handsome revenue from the sale of land there?

Amendments to the by-laws governing liquor licenses are again talked of. If it is true, as the Mayor is reported to have said, that licenses cannot be extinguished without compensation to the owners, and that there is no means whereby the compensation can be provided for, it is time that the law was amended to meet such a case. Without going into the question as to whether a liquor license ought to be regarded in the light of a permanent franchise, we fancy that no one will claim that the city ought not to be in a position to extinguish licenses, when it is in the public interest to do so. We can conceive of no reason why the liquor business should stand on any other footing in this respect from any other business.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS

MR. MACDONALD'S POSITION.

The whole case may be summed up in the statement that Mr. Macdonald has made a blundering attempt at interference with an affair which is unquestionably beyond his ability to handle, and whatever the province as a whole may think of the action of the premier there will be only one opinion now as to the position and political ability of the opposition leader.—Daily Canadian.

SERPENTS WHO CHUCKLE.

The latest in connection with the Quebec county election is the discovery announced by a local Liberal Journal, that Mr. Wilfrid Laurier has been warming serpents in his bosom. These serpents, it is further stated, are chuckling over the result that the Liberal party has secured. It is evidently time that something was done. It is bad when a statesman makes his political enemies chuckle, and it is worse when he chuckles at the patriot whose heat they have been improperly absorbing.—Montreal Gazette.

THE APOTHEOSIS OF THE PIG.

The pig has more and more been banished from human relationship, however our very closest neighbors are afraid even to say pig. Most cities have forbidden him as a resident. From the city the cow has followed him and we are now beginning to banish the horse. The Germans, however, who have led the world in going to the root of things, seem to have thrown aside this ostracizing of the lower animals as a medieval notion and propose to set up pig culture in that holy of holies of German patriotism, the Charlottenburg suburb of Berlin. The reason alleged in the despatch is that meat has become so scarce among the people that the lords and millionaires have set themselves to producing pork for them. The real notion of the Charlottenburg piggers is that the pig is the natural consumer of garbage, which, instead of being disposed of at enormous expense, should rightly be turned into good use. It may be interesting to know whether the pained-pigs will put on more airs than their plebeian neighbors, but it will certainly be an important economic inquiry to find out whether they put on more and better flesh or whether, like the three shrew children, they find the pig's meat less fattening than the hussies to which pigs may have been accustomed.—Montreal Witness.

A Certain Cure for Croup—Used for Ten Years without a Failure.

Mr. W. C. Bott, a Star City, Ind., hardware merchant, is enthusiastic in his praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. His children have all been subject to croup and he has used this remedy for the past ten years, and though they have feared the croup, his wife and he always felt safe upon retiring when a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was in the house. His oldest child was subject to severe attacks of croup, but this remedy never failed to effect a speedy cure. He has recommended it to friends and neighbors, and all who have used it say that it is unequalled for croup and whooping cough. For sale by all druggists.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A VITAL QUESTION.

Sir,—Will you permit me through the medium of your columns to draw attention to a question of vital importance to this city, which I feel is in danger of being overlooked through public apathy. I allude to the purchase by the city of the race-track and other property adjoining the Exhibition Buildings, for which a by-law is to be submitted to the ratepayers on Thursday next.

Very few people are aware that the property to be bought includes not only the race-track, but very considerable fine acreage in addition; and when I say that had the city not intervened, I should have discovered the property in question, to a client, I think you will agree that I am in a position to say authoritatively, that it is a very handsome purchase for the city as an opportunity; still, as a citizen of Victoria, I cannot but feel that it is best for the corporation to acquire the property. For instance, if the city were to acquire it, it is certain that the city cannot successfully continue holding the exhibition, as without the race-track to draw crowds, it would be a financial failure, and the large sum already invested by the city in the present structures lost; and this at a time when there seems a chance of concentrating the island fairs in this city. As the city is buying a property which is bound to enhance in value with passing years, what possible benefit can there be in missing this opportunity; for the opportunity will not be offered again.

I trust that you will allow the urgency of the matter to be my apology for intruding on your valuable space.

R. A. C. GRANT.

REAL ESTATE ACTIVITY.

Market Continues Lively—Yates Street Lot Sold at Good Figure.

The activity of the local real estate market has been somewhat lessened during the last few days, owing no doubt to the rather inclement weather, but still some important sales are reported. During the week, Messrs. Grant & Co. disposed of a number of blocks of land in acre lots within easy reach of the city and have still more requests, for acreage. The demand for this class of property holds good and many small sales are being completed.

Among the transactions in the city is the sale of a lot on Yates street adjoining the Carnegie library. The lot was the property of R. Hall, M. P. P., and brought a sum in the neighborhood of $10,500. The name of the purchaser is not made known, but the lot is considered a very choice one and one of the best "bays" in the city.

Another sale completed yesterday was the transfer of a lot at the corner of View and Blanchard streets which brought the sum of $5,000.

HOW GOLD CROSSES THE OCEAN.

Captain of the Ship Guards the Key to the Treasure.

The captain of one of the big trans-Atlantic liners which carries in its strong room millions of gold a year, while recently discussing the subject with a reporter, said: "For the gold, worth perhaps half a million in solid gold bars, strengthened with enormous bands of iron, has been placed in the hull room, access to which is only obtained through the flooring of the saloon. I sign the receipts, and then become responsible for its safety. From this moment till I arrive at Liverpool the key never leaves my person, it hanging suspended from my neck inside my clothes by a piece of ribbon. Do I think it impossible for a thief to obtain access to the strong room. Fifty desperadoes, shipping as passengers, might, as you say, wait till we were out in the open, and then, after murdering us, help themselves to some of the gold—not all, it would be too heavy—and take the boats. Yes, 50 determined men might do this. But how are 50 criminals to assemble in New York without the police becoming aware of their presence? Why, I should spot them before we started. Responsibilities for such treasures as I carry shrouded the ship. No, the money is safe enough on the ocean."

I simply from habit keep my eyes open during the voyage till we reach the dock—not that my responsibility ceases even then. Should the ship arrive on a Saturday or some holiday the vessel is considered at sea, and not only is all leave sternly refused, but the most extraordinary precautions are taken to prevent a surprise attack from shore. As soon as the officials from London—consisting generally of a few detectives, clerks of the steamship company—arrive the hull room is opened—each box being checked as it appears—placed on a trolley, and well guarded, hurried without a moment's delay to the bullion truck. When this is done and the word "All right!" is pronounced I heave a big sigh of relief, for my responsibility then ceases.

The bullion truck, as you perhaps know, is a large shaped box, lined with solid plates of iron, about four feet long by three feet high, and secured with several locks of the latest design. When the gold is to be carried by rail the bullion truck is always sandwiched in between the engine and the conductor's car, so that when the conductor has not got his eye on it the engineer or fireman has—New York Times.

CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY PROSPEROUS

Manager Aldridge's Report as Presented at Annual Meeting in Toronto

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company of Canada, Limited, held at Toronto, on Oct. 10th, W. H. Aldridge, managing director, submitted his report for the six months ending June 30, 1906, including a balance sheet, profit and loss account, production and general report, with maps, showing the groups of claims controlled or operated by the Consolidated company, with verbatim extracts of the principal producing properties. In referring to the financial affairs of the company Mr. Aldridge says that after writing off expense of incorporation and $45,905 as depreciation upon plant and equipment, the operating profit shown is $325,854.33. From this profit a special reserve of $20,000 has been provided, and two dividends amounting to $234,940 have been paid, leaving a balance at credit of profit and loss account of $70,914.03. In determining the values of the metals and products on hand, quotations considerably lower than the market prices of June 30, 1906, have been used to provide against a possible decline in the market.

Following are the productions of the different properties controlled by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company for the first six months of 1906, and the total production to date, as far as can be ascertained. It will be noted that the gross value of metals produced by the company's smelting work has been over $22,000,000, and that during the six months the gross value was about $3,000,000, of which $1,622,450 came from the company's own properties.

For the first six months of the year the Centre Star produced 81,267 tons of ore, valued at $823,790. The St. Eugene in the same period produced 84,006 tons of ore, valued at $708,690. The Trail smelter in the same period smelted 157,640 tons of ore, which produced $2,994,927.

The total production of the Centre Star and War Eagle since the commencement of operations in 1891 has been 1,008,613 tons of ore, valued at $42,084 tons, valued at $12,831,033; the St. Eugene in the same period produced 397,482 tons of ore, valued at $4,480,343; the Snowshoe in the same period produced 92,330 tons of ore, valued at $809,000; the Trail smelter in the same period smelted 1,008,613 tons of ore, valued at $22,014,085. Note—The Trail smelter production does not cover the period when it was operated by the B. C. S. & R. Co., which was previous to March, 1898.

In speaking about development there, Mr. Aldridge says 14 miles of underground development or narrow work in the Centre Star and War Eagle and nearly eight miles in the St. Eugene. During the six months 8,573 feet have been driven in the Centre Star and War Eagle, and 4,838 in the St. Eugene.

The Centre Star most encouraging results have been obtained in the eleventh or lowest developed level, (1,388 feet below the collar of the shaft, and measured on the dip of the vein, 70 degrees).

In the War Eagle fair tonnage of ore have been found on the fourth, fifth and sixth levels, while good ore is being developed on the bottom, or eleventh level, which is 1,582 feet below the collar of the shaft.

The St. Eugene the discovery of a new cross shoot, known as Fourth Avenue, connecting the main and south veins will probably prove to be the most valuable find made during the six months on that property.

A small shoot of high grade ore has been taken to the surface by the group at Sandon, formerly owned by the War Eagle company, and a few carloads will be shipped as soon as raw-riding is possible.

The ore reserves have been increased in the Centre Star and War Eagle. Due to a lack of a compressor capacity, drills, development in the St. Eugene has fallen behind somewhat, but the sinking of the main shaft and other important work is now well under way.

Due to lack of skilled labor, the new construction and improvements have not been completed.

During the six months $130,970.28 have been expended upon these accounts, which expenditure will not only reduce costs, but will increase the tonnage which can be economically handled at the mines, smelter and refinery.

The main enlargements and improvements are as follows: An increase in the electrolytic dead refinery from a capacity of fifty tons of pig lead per day to seventy-five tons per day; the installation of an electric crane, and the construction of a new shaft for the treatment of the silver slimes.

The addition of a new copper furnace 22 feet long by 42 inches at the tuyeres, having a capacity of over 400 tons daily of Rossland ore.

The patent rights and installation of the Henderson-Hobbes process for the treatment of lead sulphides, which process is reducing the costs of treating the St. Eugene lead product, copper matte and other sulphides.

The building of additional large flues for catching dust from the copper furnaces.

Eagle on the east and the Centre Star on the north. The Iron Mask mine shipped 10,405 tons of ore at a gross assay value of over $25 per ton (nearly $500,000), and has 11,850 tons of probable ore containing $20.46 gross assay value ($242,451). The War Eagle east drifts will be connected with the old Iron Mask workings. There was considerable expensive litigation between the Centre Star and Iron Mask, which was concluded in 1901 by a somewhat indefinite agreement. The purchase of the Iron Mask removes all chance of future difficulties between the properties.

One or two engineers are kept in the field looking up new properties, and it is hoped that other promising properties in other districts will be secured. Owing to personal business, James Cronin resigned the active management of the mines and was replaced by R. H. Stewart, as manager of mines, under whose supervision the mining results have been most satisfactory. The favorable condition of the company's properties is also due to Jules Laharrie, manager of the Trail smelter and refinery; William Chambers, superintendent of the refinery; M. E. Purcell, superintendent of the Centre Star mines; W. P. Eugene mines; T. W. Binyar, controller, and John M. Turnbull, mining engineer.

THE WAYS OF DIVORCE.

The frequency with which the marriage contract is broken, and the ease with which a divorce can be obtained in the United States have led to a widespread interest in the investigations of the divorce evil of America. An examination of the records will show that the United States grants more divorces than all the other combined countries of the world. France and Germany hold highest rank in number of divorces in the old world, but the United States grants nearly double the number of these two nations.

In this country the evil is on the increase, which rises dangerously when population increases. About 28 per cent while divorce cases reach the enormous figure of 68 per cent. If this increase keeps up the time will soon come when more marriages will be terminated by divorce than by death.

This increase has no special geographical significance, but investigations indicate it is greatest in the southern states, culminating in the State of Florida, and the lower Mississippi states. It is least in the north and northwest, and the lowest per cent in Vermont. The divorce coincides with another feature; namely, the interval of marriage is shortest in the states of the greatest increase, and longest in those of least increase.

When it is examined on the basis of nationality, the records show that they are exactly what they are. This is an American tendency, and greatest among the Americans who have married Americans. The number of divorces where an American married a foreigner is at least four times that where a foreigner married a foreigner. Another classification will show that divorce is not most prevalent among the poorer but rather the richer classes.

When considered on religious lines statistics show that from the ranks of the non-religious vastly the greater number of divorces is granted. This may be explained from the general disapproval of the churches and their silent protest against divorces except in extreme cases.

As would be expected the per cent of divorced families is largest among childless families. There is a national basis for this fact. This is not only the time when the small family is popular, but the childless family is likewise growing in favor, especially in the centres of population where society lays its claims upon husband and wife. Whether Mr. Roosevelt's contention is justified or not, few will question the fatality confronting the home along this line.

Investigation shows another important item. At least two-thirds of the cases show the wife as the complainant. That is, she has taken the initiative in the divorce proceedings, which indicates the husband is the guilty party. As between the two, which is the more apt to break the marriage vows? The fact would indicate the husband.

This item leads to a consideration of the causes of divorce. The various states allow different causes for legal separation, some of them as many as ten causes. On the other hand, a study of the complaints indicates that at least 40 per cent of all the cases in the various states is included in the single cause of desertion. In some of the states it is worded "neglect to provide." At least one per cent is included in the charge of infidelity. This cause is most frequent in the State of New York.

Expense in securing a decree is an important item. This varies widely in the states. In England the legal expenses reach at least $100; consequently, the number compared with other countries is small. On the other hand, Canada allows the complainant to plead without cost, and consequently the number is correspondingly large. In some states the decree can be materially lessened by increasing the requisite evidence, and also the necessary expense.

Only the narrowest dogmatist could insist upon rigid adherence to the conduct in many cases of notoriously corrupt conduct. It would seem unwise in view of this fact to entirely deny the remedy now so widely recognized. But to all thinking people it must appear that the tendency today in this country is downward rather than upward; that the error is in the ease with which a marriage contract may be revoked. Today divorce proceedings may begin over a curly dog, a woman's bangs, a man's tie or buttons, as well as over conduct, morals or religion.—Extracted from an article in the "World's Events Magazine."

Enrico Pavone of New York Saves His Life by Quick Gun Play.

New York, Nov. 13.—In the presence of scores of men and women hurrying through Motif street, in the Italian quarter, Enrico Pavone today shot and killed Nulzato Legato. Pavone, who was arrested, claims that the killing was justified, as Legato, who had represented himself as an agent of the "Black Hand" Society and demanded money, had threatened to kill him had he not fired first. A loaded revolver was found on Legato's body.

Mr. Jerome said that he would increase the prosecution and would be assisted by Assistant District Attorney Garvin.

CITIZENS IN FAVOR OF EXHIBITION BY-LAW

All Agreed That Increased Property Area Is Required for Fair

VOTE TO BE TAKEN TOMORROW

Cogent Reasons Are Advanced as to Why City Should Undertake Proposed Expenditure

The ratepayers of the city will be called on tomorrow to decide whether or not they are in favor of securing additional property accommodation for the Agricultural association, or, as some citizens put it, whether they want any more exhibitions. The by-law to be submitted tomorrow authorizes the corporation to raise the sum of $50,000 to purchase what is known as the driving park, and to provide the necessary money for improvements to the exhibition buildings. The by-law, when submitted to the aldermanic board was practically passed unanimously, and in view of the fact that a vote will be taken tomorrow, a Colonist reporter yesterday ascertained the views of some of the prominent business men of the city on the question.

Among some of those seen was Otto Weller, of Weller Bros. He said: "What else can we do? If we are going to have an exhibition, we must have more property. The site is a little too far from the centre of the city; but since the buildings have been erected at that point, they must either be improved or let go to ruin, and I am in favor of enlarging them."

J. H. Lawson, manager of R. P. Rithet & Co., said: "I intend to vote for the by-law, as I think it is not only a good measure, but the property will also be a good asset to the city, and within the next few years the corporation will be able to get the money back, if they wish to sell. I will vote for the by-law, and I hope to see it pass."

E. G. Prior, president of E. G. Prior & Co., Ltd., in referring to the question, said: "Yes, I am in favor of the proposition. I think it is the best thing the citizens can do. It's also a safe investment, and it is not like throwing money away where it will not be returned. The fair this year was a good one, and during a recent trip through the interior, I heard nothing but complimentary remarks at the manner in which the exhibition had been conducted. All the exhibitors were well pleased with the treatment they received, but the prizes are a little too low. I think if the efforts of the citizens of British Columbia were centred in three exhibitions—one at Kamloops, another at New Westminster, and the third in this city—they would do more than at present. I would like to see the small fairs combine and make three good ones. I am sincerely in favor of purchasing more property for exhibition purposes in this city."

Stephen Jones, of the Dominion hotel, when seen by a Colonist reporter, gave the matter a few minutes' consideration, and then said: "I am certainly in favor of the proposal. I think it is an opportune time for the city to secure possession of this property. With the manufacturing interests thriving and great strides being made in fruit growing and other industries, I think it is time for Victorians to realize that they should have the best fair in the province, and to do this we must have more space."

W. H. Bone, of T. N. Hibben & Co., said: "I signed the petition, and I am still in favor of the proposal. It is a safe investment, and the city can get its money back any time it wishes to dispose of the property. Besides this, if we are going to have a city of any importance, it is necessary that we should have an exhibition; and unless we get the property it will be impossible to hold a fair that will do credit to the city. I am most certainly in favor of the by-law."

A. H. Mitchell, of Challoner & Mitchell, was also in favor of the by-law, stating that the firm of which he is a member had signed the petition, and saw no reason to change their views. While the exhibition did not benefit their business directly, it did indirectly, as well as other business houses in the city. Mr. Mitchell pointed out that the Toronto exhibition had done a great deal of good for that city every year, the management turn several thousand dollars into the city treasury. He could see no reason why the local exhibition could not be placed on the same basis.

Max Leiser, of Pither & Leiser, said: "I am in favor of the by-law. It is a good thing, and I would like to see the by-law pass."

Harrie G. Ross, of Dixie H. Ross & Co.—"I think it is a good thing, and I am heartily in favor of it. It practically means an exhibition or no exhibition. If we are to have an exhibition, it must be a good one, and we cannot have an up-to-date exhibition unless we have more property."

Fred Carne, the Government street grocer—"I am heartily in accord with the proposal. The property will be a valuable asset to the city in the next few years, and if we do not get it, it will mean that we will lose $35,000."

H. G. Wilson, of Wilson Bros., wholesale grocers, thought it was a first class proposition. He said: "The ratepayers should get out and vote for it, otherwise the by-law is liable to go the same way as others that have been submitted to the ratepayers. Mr. Wilson also pointed out that, run under proper management, it would very likely produce a revenue for the city."

David Spencer—"The buildings should never have been placed where they are; but since they are there, it is 'up to' the city to see that the association is not crowded for space, and get in and make a big exhibition that will be a credit."

W. J. Pendray also thought that the buildings were a little too far out, but recognized the fact that since they are where they are, it was the duty of the ratepayers to see that nothing is put in the way of the exhibition back.

C. P. Todd—"If the price is right, it is a good proposition, but I am not sure about the figure. If it is decided that the price is a fair value, go ahead and buy it, and make the exhibition a success."

R. A. C. Grant, of Grant & Conyers, said: "You need have no fear as to the value of the property. I had practically completed a deal to take it over when the officers of the association secured the option over me. My clients were willing to pay the same price as the city are asked to do, and I say again that there need be no fear as to the value of the property. I am both in favor of the proposal and against it. I think it is a good thing for the city to buy it, and as a citizen I would like to see them do so."

Arion club has been appointed to consider what possibilities exist in the way of taking up the suggestion that the club enter the musical competition to be held in Ottawa for Earl Grey's music trophy. E. H. Russell has received a letter informing him that a transportation committee had been formed in connection with the competition, and even if it is found impossible to send the whole club, it is likely that a concert troupe will be organized to represent Victoria. The members of the Arion club are at present hard at work practicing and preparing for the first concert of their fifteenth season, which will probably be held during the first week of next month.

A CARIBOO PIONEER.

Brief Sketch of the Career of Thomas
J. Cole of Ashcroft.

Tom Cole is the oldest pioneer in the Ashcroft Pioneer society. He was in Yale on the fourth day of July 1858, was one of the first to join the society, but does not remember where it was formed, says the Ashcroft Journal. Mr. Cole has been able to attend the annual meetings for several years on account of his eyesight.

He was born in Halifax county, Nova Scotia, on the 11th day of October, 1831.
He spent his earliest days on a farm in that province. On the first day of July, 1852, he took passage for Melbourne, Australia. There were 72 passengers on board the ship that carried him over, and they anchored in Melbourne harbor on the 11th day of October, on his 21st birthday. He thus celebrated his birthday in a new and faraway land.

He followed mining for some time in Australia, but in February of the year following his arrival he sailed on the ship Champion of the Sea for Liverpool, England, and arrived there in May;
there were 900 passengers on board.

The English atmosphere and environment did appeal to him to such an extent, for we find him one month later sailing across the Atlantic towards New York. From there he went to Boston, then through the state of Maine to New Brunswick, and up to Halifax and homeward. The Robinson Cruise spirit of adventure had taken possession of him, however, for four months later, on the first day of December, 1855, he started for California via Panama. He mined in California until the Fraser river excitement in 1858.

In 1859 he bought shares in a fishery company on San Juan Island, and was there during the trouble over the boundary line. He was well acquainted with Capt. Pickett of the American garrison, and Capt. Basilegate. In February, 1862, he sold out his interests in the fishery company and headed for Cariboo, where he sold out the 21-Mile House, Pavillion.
In 1864 he sold out of the 21-Mile property and bought the 18-Mile ranch, where he has lived ever since, and where he now is (in his own words) "almost blind and crippled with rheumatism."

THE NAVY LEAGUE.

Regular Monthly Meeting Held Yesterday Afternoon.

The usual monthly meeting of the committee of the Victoria Esquimaux branch of the navy league was held at the secretary's office, 38 Douglas street, yesterday afternoon. The president,
James Thomson, presiding. Others present were Colonel R. Wolfenden, I. S.
O., W. E. Laird and J. Pearson, while
A. B. Fraser, Sen., apologized for absence in consequence of another special engagement. After the reading and confirmation of minutes, the secretary reported of the Trafalgar-day celebration, a resolution to remit the usual £10 as a subscription to the parent league was passed. Further communications relating to the question of a "Central Organization for Canada" were read and the matter still rests in abeyance pending reply from the head office.

The secretary was requested to confer with certain parties with a view to some special effort to further the objects and efforts of the league in this city, possibly with the idea of enlisting the much needed co-operation of the ladies. The secretary mentioned that many ladies of title and distinction in the Old Country are now very active in Navy League work.

The forthcoming Colonial conference which is to meet in London in April, 1907 was referred to and seeing that it is thought that the scheme for the defence of the Empire and the attitude of the self-governing colonies touching the same must be included in the deliberations, the Navy League ventures to suggest that an endeavor should be made to crystallize public opinion as to the best methods in which Colonial assis-

THE STAGE.

The Jessie MacLachlan concert company appeared before a good sized audience at the Victoria theatre last evening, and the entertainment was voted a most pleasurable one.

If there may be said to have been a surprise in the event it was found in the exceptional quality of the support. Douglas Young, the tenor, and John McInden, the violinist, earned and received quite as enthusiastic expressions of approbation as the main attraction. Miss MacLachlan was one bit disappointing, far from so. She was in regal voice, and aroused her audience to a pitch of enthusiasm seldom excited by a concert vocalist. Not only was her voice delightfully pure and sweet, her manner naturally charming and her dramatic power delightfully easy and effective, but her several songs were well chosen, and their interpretation left absolutely nothing to be desired. Mr. Young proved a true tenor of the rarest quality, and Mr. Lind a master of the cello. In warmth of tone, in such technique that the difficulties of the instrument are lost sight of, he proved a true artist of the highest sort. Robert Buchanan was the accompanist, and played with marked taste and adequate subordination of his instrument. The one conspicuous member of the concert company may be said to have been Mr. Graham, the solo pianist, who, while technically an admirable executant, seemed to miss force and color of temperament, one might say, in his several classical numbers. The concert as a whole gave more than abundant satisfaction.

A Play of Youth

Youth predominates "Strongheart," the American comedy-drama of college life, in which Robert Edson will be seen in this city on Friday, Nov. 16. Although "Strongheart" is serious in theme, Mr. de Miller has provided comedy in plenty; good, youthful, beautiful, clean comedy, for it breathes the college spirit particularly when football is in the air, and pictures vividly the excitement attendant upon the big game of the season. It reflects the days that are a delight to recall—the days of youth, of spontaneous fun, of frolic, of fraternities, of campus heroes and boy and girl love affairs. There is not an old person on the stage. The scenes of "Strongheart" are peopled with fresh-faced youths and pretty girls. The charm it exerts over the theatre-goer is unmistakable, and yet it is no wise inferences with the strong dramatic interest of the story, for amidst the fun and gaiety stands the figure of the Indian who speaks their tongue, who thinks their thoughts and yet because of his color is not one of them. He, too, is young, but before the play ends he finds himself confronted with his life's problem—one that will shadow his maturer years.

Novel Character

Of all the characters in modern stage life none has the genuine charm of novelty so strongly marked as that of the leading character in the delicious comedy, "The Marriage of Kitty," which will be seen at the Victoria theatre on Thursday, Nov. 15, under the management of Jules Murray. Imagine, if you will, a girl so free from the fetters of conventionalities that she innocently asks her guardian and godfather to get her a husband to support her, for, of all the various kinds of employment open to young and good-looking women that of matrimony appeals to her with greater force than any other. She even consents to marry a friend of his to help him (the friend) out of a scrape, for, by so doing, she enables him to evade the provisions of his uncle's will, and (after divorcing her) marry the girl of his choice. Once married, however, misadventure is loath to give up the man she has learned to love, and the two scapegraves elope! the husband with his own wife! Miss Florence Gear, the young and handsome comedienne who plays the part of the charming but capricious Kitty, brings to the part just enough roguery and coquetry to make it seem to be a perfectly proper proceeding for any one to take upon herself responsibilities like that of which were never before contemplated by a sane young woman. She compels admiration and unstinted praise for the act itself as well as the manner of the doing of it.

"Arizona," according to the critics of the East and West the title of Augustus Thomas' best play, will be presented at the Victoria theatre tonight. Three companies have been insufficient to supply the demand for this excellent drama. People who are familiar with Mr. Thomas' previous works, "Alabama" and "In Missoury," will appreciate the distinction conferred by the implication in the title of the position at the head of the list of this pricier's productions. "Arizona" had two record-breaking runs in New York city, and has played no less than fourteen profitable engagements in Chicago within the past four years. It will be given with an excellent company, with the same elaborate scenic investiture which was seen at the Academy of Music, New York, during its memorable run, which was made after sketches by Frederic Remington.

At the Empress

With new people in the cast, an exceedingly well staged production, and a play of much popularity, which has never been produced in Victoria heretofore, the Empress Stock company is looming up to great advantage this week. In presenting this bill the company has the advantage of a whole week's rehearsal, and two performances thus far, and is giving a most pleasing presentation. The management in deciding on one play a week is able to give a much better performance. At the matinee today, Miss Knott will receive the mail of children on the stage after the performance.

Next week is the benefit for the Royal Jubilee hospital, and diligent rehearsals, with added people to the cast are being carried on, so as to make the play one great success. Seats may be ordered by telephone.

ENDLESS ANNOYANCE AND MISERY.

"As a man of seventy years I am grateful to God and to Dr. Chase's Ointment for a cure of piles which has caused me endless annoyance and much misery. The itching and burning was almost beyond endurance, but Dr. Chase's Ointment brought quick relief and I believe that the cure is lasting." Rev. Wm. Thomas, Brownsville, Ont.

SPORTS

BASEBALL

An Early Beginning

Although the baseball season on this coast has not been closed more than a few weeks, the fans of Seattle are already "doping" out a team for next year. Russ Hall has not yet arrived from the South, and Mr. Agnew, who was associated with him in the management of the Seattle club, has definitely decided to withdraw from the game. The Seattle Post-Intelligencer in referring to the situation says:

"That Russ Hall is figuring on next year is made clear by the official announcement from Secretary Farrell, of the national association, to the effect that Seattle has signed Harry Nelson for 1907. No one seems to know who Harry is, but the official records say that he belongs to Seattle, and so it must be true.

"Seattle's reserve list includes the following: A. R. Mott, George Cross, E. Van Buren, Eddie Householder, H. P. Vickers, Oscar Jonsson, Earl Garvin, W. J. Kane, T. P. Fitzpatrick, C. Shields, J. Walters, H. Nelson, Cliff Blankenship and Johnny Kane.

"In his bulletin Secretary Farrell says that 'the following are recent entries with records of the national association, including the reserve list of the coast league.' Farther down on the list it is shown that Blankenship was sold to Washington but nothing is said about Johnny Kane being sold to Cincinnati."

THE TURF

To Settle Accounts

A meeting of the Dominion Day Race association will be held this evening at the office of the secretary, Chancery Chambers, Langley street. The meeting has been called by Secretary Smart to ascertain to what use the balance remains from the meet will be put. Every subscriber to the fund is particularly requested to attend. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock, and a large attendance is expected.

FOOTBALL

Pacific Coast Champions

The Seattle High School football team will try conclusions with the team from the Lick High School of Mechanical Arts of San Francisco, on Saturday next, for the interscholastic championship of the Pacific coast. The Lick students have defeated the players from Berkeley, and have tied for the championship of California with the team from Centerville, and they have the right to defend their title against the Seattle school. It will cost the latter about $800 to successfully finance the trip, which will necessitate an extra large attendance. It has been suggested by some one with the game under the revised American rules, while the local boys play the English game; and in the majority of instances the local boys have never as much as read the rules governing the American games. So to "go up against" a team that has been trained under experts would be utter foolishness.

The Central Rugby football team will hold a practice at Oak Bay this evening at 6:30 o'clock, when all members are expected to be on hand.

HOCKEY

Match Postponed

The Victoria Ladies' Hockey club will hold their regular midweek practice at Oak Bay this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Although the local club had arrangements made for a game with Nanaimo to take place on the 21st instant, it is very likely that it will have to be called off. The committee of the Victoria club, acting under the understanding that they could secure the Oak Bay park for that date, but in some manner the grounds were given over the Rugby and Association football players, and consequently it will be impossible for more than two games to be played on the same time. The local club are arranging a return match with the girls of Victoria college, to be played on Saturday afternoon.

FOOTBALL

Matches for Saturday

Two senior games in the Victoria District Football League will be played on Saturday. The Fifth Regiment will play conclusions with the Victoria West aggregation at Work Point, and the Rovers will meet the Garrison at Oak Bay. The match at Oak Bay is expected to be very evenly contested, as both teams have been making active preparations. The Garrison have already lost one game, and a defeat on Saturday would put them in a very bad position in the league and it is safe to say that an extra effort will be put forward to win the match.

The Rovers, on the other hand, have won two and drawn one game; and a victory for the Garrison would send them further down the ladder. With both teams in the running for the championship, a hard game may be looked for.

The match at Work Point is also attracting considerable attention. The ability of the Victoria West team is well known but the Victoria West look stronger. The Fifth Regiment team on Saturday will be far stronger than the team defeated by the Rovers last week. Since the regiment has entered a team in the league the members are flocking towards the standard and before the season is finished it is expected that the Fifth will boast of a team that will be a credit to the regiment. Several members of the regiment who took part in the Rugby match on Saturday last are now anxious to don the colors of the regiment in the league series. With the addition of these players and the assistance of several recruits, the regiment will be able to place a team on the field that will cause all the others to "sit up and take notice."

One rainy afternoon Aunt Sue was explaining the meaning of various words to her young nephew. Now, an heirloom, my dear, means something that has been handed down from father to son, she said. "Well," replied the boy thoughtfully, that's a queer name for my trousers.

"Behold," whispered the spiritualistic medium, "it is the spirit of your late wife." The man sat still and said nothing. "Don't you understand?" whispered the medium again. "It is your departed wife. Why don't you speak to her?" "Oh, she'll do the speaking if it's her."

THE LABOR PROBLEM.

Nelson News Congratulates Government on Move in Matter.

The Nelson News (Liberal) in its issue of Friday last, had the following editorial:

"The Minister of Finance is certainly moving in the right direction in instructing R. M. Palmer, of the Bureau of Information, and fruit commissioner to England, to investigate the British labor market with a view to securing a desirable class of settlers for this province. Some action of this kind has long been needed and the Daily News has repeatedly urged upon the provincial authorities the necessity of making an attempt to supply the demand for labor created largely by the barring out of Chinese. Mr. Palmer has done excellent work in other directions, and he may be relied upon to do equally well in this connection. Finance Minister Taitlow is to be congratulated upon having risen to the occasion."

A Correction.—In the report of the public meeting held by Premier McBride and the Hon. R. G. Taitlow at Duncan on Saturday evening, which was published yesterday, an error inadvertently occurred. It was stated that the product of the creamery of the province during the past year had reached a total value of $16,000,000. This is obviously inaccurate. The figure quoted should have been $6,000,000, representing the output of the province in respect to dairy commodities.

Christmas Sale.—The ladies of the Church of Our Lord have arranged to hold their annual sale of work on Friday, the 7th of December, Victoria hall, on Blanchard street, being secured for the occasion by kind permission of Mrs. Simpson. As a preliminary announcement, it may be said that the principal articles offered for sale will be from fancy to plain work, candy and paper stalls, dolls, flowers, and other appropriate exhibits. Friends wishing to contribute to the sale will kindly communicate with the president of the Ladies' Aid at 132 Superior street. In the afternoon tea will be served, and in the evening there will be a concert of more than ordinary excellence, the programme being in the hands of one of Victoria's best known musicians.

HORDE OF HINDUS ON STEAMER TARTAR

C. P. R. Liner Reaches Quarantine With Another Batch of Sikh Immigrants

ARE EN ROUTE TO VANCOUVER

Speculation Is Rife as to Nature of Reception They Will Get on Arrival at Terminal City

Steamer Tartar reached William Head last night from Yokohama, twenty-four hours late, delayed by heavy weather. The steamer had over 700 Hindus on board. The C. P. R. evidently anticipate trouble regarding the landing of the coffee contingent at Vancouver for inquiries were made yesterday at the ocean dock regarding the accommodation for housing the horde of Sikhs there, if it should be found advisable to land the unwelcome immigrants at this port. The Hindus will be examined by the quarantine staff, Dr. A. T. Watt, and Dr. Anderson, and the expected steamer will berth at the outer wharf about 9 a. m. today.

The stories of the riches of the Eldorado in British Columbia have occasioned the influx of Punjabis, and the tales transmitted in the mails of the gold to be gained in this country across the great have caused a large number of Sikhs to leave their homes in Shanghai and Hongkong. At Shanghai the Sikh police went on strike, necessitating the calling out of volunteers and armed naval forces before the strike was settled. The men wanted higher pay, basing their claim on statements sent from Sikhs in British Columbia of the wages being paid to workmen in this country. The North China Daily News says: "The stories of the Eldorado in Canada found by a number of Sikh and other Indian watchmen who have sought employment thus far from their native land have been the cause of a large number of them coming to the result that the Indians here, like their compatriots in Hongkong, have for a long while been thirsting for a share of the gold. Dissatisfaction with their present wages has been expressed by the Indian policemen for some time. Little meetings have been quietly held and the matter discussed. The case from the Indian point of view is that the policemen do not get sufficient wages and it is affirmed that from America and even Russia letters come very often in which it is stated that the wages in those countries are anything from $60, $80 or $100 per month. There was plenty of gold; why didn't their friends come? In Shanghai, as policemen, they got $10 to $22. The Sikhs have decided that they must have more money in Shanghai or else they will not remain here. Some of the more influential informants were desirous of going away in any case."

The same paper says in an editorial: "The origin of the present movement is easily traceable to reports spread among the Sikhs of the high wages being paid to their countrymen in the United States, France and in Panama. A certain number of Sikhs employed privately in Shanghai have left for these parts and have probably sent back glowing accounts of a state of things which is admittedly temporary and limited in extent. Whether any attempt will be made at Vancouver, as was the case when a steamer arrived some time ago with a large number of the brown men, to prevent their landing, remains to be seen. Reports were current when the Charnier left yesterday of deputies being sworn in to receive the immigrants. The arrival of the steamer, The News-Advertiser of yesterday says on the other hand: "It is not likely that this time any attempt will be made by the civic authorities to prevent the Hindus from landing. At least Chief of Police Chisholm has received no word and in all probability that the whole matter will be left with the Dominion government."

GOT A PAIN IN YOUR BACK?

You get a pain in your back, and you wonder what is the matter. You perhaps pay no attention to it. Backache is caused by imperfect action of the kidneys, in fact, is the first sign of kidney trouble to follow.

The kidneys, proper, are composed of a close network of fibrous tissue, interlaced with tiny elastic fibres. Their object is the excretion of the uric acid, and other poisonous matter composing the urine, from the blood.

They are continuously at work to preserve the general health of the body and most people are troubled with some form of kidney trouble, but do not suspect it.

Some of the symptoms are: A feeling of weakness in the small of the back, sharp pains in back, puffiness under the eyes, and swelling of the feet and ankles, uric acid, troubles such as suppressed urination, excessive urination, cloudy, thick or highly colored urine, etc.

Mr. J. L. Whiting, Osnabruck Centre, Ont., writes: "I suffered for two years with kidney trouble. I had terrible pains in my back, hips and legs. I could not sleep and had a poor appetite, took four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and the pains went away. I am now well and I now sleep well. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from kidney trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 4 boxes for $1.25 at all druggists or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

consider that his case came within the scope of the fund. Mr. C. G. Carey, special representative of the commission, was sent to the Pacific Coast a short time ago and made a personal investigation of the case. Special Agent Carey interviewed several witnesses connected with the wreck. H. Allison, of St. Paul, who was one of the men rescued from the Valencia, testified that Segalos had done nothing of any importance. The special agent got much conflicting evidence during his stay.

A letter was received by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, stating that it was the copy of a letter sent to Segalos: "Your case, after an investigation, was considered at a meeting of the committee, and I regret to inform you that it was decided your case is not within the scope of the fund."

DEMAND FOR COAL.

Don Reported to Be Chartered to Load at Ladysmith for Portland.

The great demand for coal, caused by the additional number of steamers now plying in these waters, has resulted in the necessity of procuring all available cargoes into the coal-carrying trade, and of late it has also been found advisable to load vessels with coal from the Columbia river, Portland and San Francisco. Recently the steamer Duner, chartered to load at Portland, was loaded with a full cargo of coal from the Columbia river, and is now at port, and it is reported that the bark Don, now discharging general cargo at Vancouver, will be sent to Ladysmith when she finishes discharging to load for Portland.

local officials were especially watchful with regard to the passenger, and, at their request, the woman was locked up on board and placed under constant guard. It seems that placards were posted at Portland, Ore., October 12, 1906, that the steamer was carrying this young woman, concerning whom a legal fight has been in progress for some time, and ultimately in an order for her deportation.

BEAVERS AND THEIR WORK.

On some of the small streams flowing into Lake Dunlap, beaver dams recently constructed, have been discovered, and several farmers have complained to the government on account of their land being flooded. The government has given the men permission to open the beaver dams, but instructed them not to molest the wild animals.

Almost every Canadian has seen a beaver meadow, but few persons take time to consider the origin, or seek to understand the wonderful display of architectural ingenuity and engineering ability that are connected with the formation of a beaver meadow.

In the month of May, before the water gets too low in the streams, the beaver starts out on an exploratory expedition, following up the course of some creek that flows in solitude through an undisturbed forest. A careful examination of the stream is made. It must be either a spring creek or from the outlet of some lake, so that there can be no possible danger of the water drying up. There must also be plenty of timber, particularly birch and maple being preferred. The place for a dam is selected, at a point where the stream passes between banks that are of a proper height; the beavers making sure that there is sufficient level ground further up, over which the water will rise when the dam is constructed.

The first thing that the beavers attempt to do is to select a place where the stream is narrow, and where the banks are high enough to provide a safe retreat. This is generally found under some bank, where the spring freshets has washed the earth from beneath the roots of trees that overhang the stream; care is taken that the bank is sufficiently high to permit of the beavers making their abode above the level of the water, which rises as the dam is constructed.

Work is now commenced at the dam. Trees are cut down and divided into proper lengths, branches and all are utilized. At the point selected for a dam, there is always a rapid, and the sticks are placed in such a way in the bed of the stream, that the weight of water keeps them in place. The sticks are covered with brush, grass and weeds are floated down, or are carried by the beavers until a proper foundation is made, and the water begins to rise in the woods along the stream above the dam.

In amongst the trees that are now standing in water, the beavers wade, swim and splash, with much satisfaction, and the timber is gradually brought to the place where it is required. When thus engaged, the beaver makes as much use of its tail as it does of its teeth or paws, not for the purpose of carrying mud, or plastering, as is often stated, but the broad flat appendage keeps the hind part of the beaver near the surface, while the animal is swimming with his stick in his mouth. There is no need of plastering.

A dozen healthy, active, industrious beavers, all busy along the creek, send down stream such a quantity of leaves, small branches and partly decayed vegetation, which is quickly sucked into the openings, that all the holes are quickly closed.

The beaver's tail is used for only two purposes, to assist the animal's movements in the water and to give signals. When danger arises the beaver gives the alarm to its companions by striking the water with its tail. The report is so loud that it can be heard at a great distance on a still evening.

The dam has various uses. The water that has been held back affords safety and pleasure to the beavers, and by flooding a portion of the forest, enables the animals to cut wood and remove it without danger, and with much ease.

The food of the beaver consists wholly of the bark of trees. In summer this is easily obtained, but without the dam and the deep water above it, the beavers would perish in winter, for they could not obtain a supply of bark. As soon as the water is frozen, the beavers begin about making provisions for the cold weather, when the woods will be filled with snow and the pond covered by ice. Small trees are cut into lengths of about two or three feet; the green wood sticks easily and is usually drawn under submerged trees or bushes, so near the bottom that the beaver can reach them.

Beavers either spend the winter in underground abodes or in huts, specially constructed of the same material as the dam is composed of. In all cases the openings lead under the ice into open water. Thus, by well directed efforts during the summer, the beavers are enabled to spend the winter in safety, with an ample supply of food within easy reach. The young beavers are strong enough to assist in gathering wood in October, and are models of property, both in industry and behavior.

In a few years, when the high water has killed a large number of trees, they have been cut down in the valley, the dam abandoned, and a new spot for a dam is selected. Through time, the dead trees on the old ground fall down and decay; the dam becomes partly destroyed by freshets, and the old pond becomes a beaver meadow, where the enterprising beaver and his family are at work in the fall and the settler takes his children to the old meadow to seek for plums and wild cherries that often grow around the opening in the woods. In the month of May the vicinity of the beaver meadow is a garden of flowers, and the wild fruit trees are in full bloom. The meadow is then white with blossoms; thousands of beautiful birds sing their songs unseen in the fragrant and flowering grove, while the ever watchful dog brings her fawns to drink at the old beaver creek and crop the fresh young grass in the lonely meadow. —The Hartney Star.

MEDIAEVAL LONDON.

Luxuries of the British Capital in Ancient Days.

Not a few interesting things come out when we study the history of mediaeval London. The London of the thirteenth century was a very different place from the London of the present day. The London of the thirteenth century was a very different place from the London of the present day. The London of the thirteenth century was a very different place from the London of the present day.

For hundreds of years before then the connection between the country and the city, the country gentleman and the city trader, had been most intimate. No more striking evidence of this can be given than the analysis of the origin of the 203 Lord Mayors from Henry Fitz-Aylwin down to the year 1893, a period of over 700 years.

Of these 203 Lord Mayors, 156 were born. When we consider what the mediaeval village was, how limited was the horizon of all but the lord of the manor or a knight here and there, it is not difficult to understand why many lords of the manor sought the opportunities offered by apprenticeship in the city.

London is quoted to show that the nobility thought with shame of the merchant's career. He himself declared "mercatura non derogat nobilitati." These same country lads supplied the city, as indeed they do now, with the necessary fresh blood and energy.

An important point is the fact that London was always great as a distributing not as a manufacturing centre. And this fact no legislation, no system of duties could alter. Fraternities of foreign merchants established themselves in their fortified houses and kept their Londoners at bay.

The mediaeval city of 500 years ago was as full of luxuries as is the city of today—the best shopping place in northern Europe in the days of Edward III., as it is in the days of Edward VII.

Entire fleets laden with nothing but wine came to London. When a man could "get dead drunk for twopenny," as the fascinating invitation of a later time put it; but the drink had by that time been changed from wine to gin. Mediaeval London had, indeed, the best of everything, paying for it all in wool.

So Capgrave has it: "Take the ship off your gold noble and impress a sheep instead." (This was the noble of Edward III.) Napoleon repeated the taunt, but the laugh was not in the end with the foreigner. And how, it may be asked, did these good things go backward and forward?

The answer is, the Channel, though we still claimed the sovereignty of the seas. In this respect things reached their worst, we are told, in the fourteenth century. Foreign merchants settled in London and traded. They came from Venice, Rouen, Genoa, Florence, Lombardy, and elsewhere.

London, during the period, was a halcyon time for pirates, the lords of manors who had forebushes, for fishermen and for wreckers.

DID NOT KEEP WELL.

An old gentleman at Tenet, France, was recently charged with murder under curious circumstances. A rapscallion rushed into a police station and threw down a bag of bones, saying: "Take away with you, but he had discovered them to be human."

Scouting a terrible crime, the inspector at once telephoned to a magistrate. Soon after the magistrate, inspector, and two policemen called at the house where the bones were found, and the rapscallion and were received by an old gentleman in gold-rimmed spectacles.

The magistrate looked the door behind him, and the rapscallion came on the table, and said: "You give this and other human remains to a rapscallion, this morning."

"I did," said the old gentleman, "and the rapscallion said: 'Who was your victim?'"

In reply the old gentleman in the gold-rimmed spectacles burst out laughing. "The rapscallion," he said, "is the son of the Grand Priest Diophis, who died in Egypt more than 3,000 years before the birth of Christ."

"I did not keep well," said the old gentleman, "and the rapscallion said: 'Who was your victim?'"

Exhaustive inquiries eventually led to the release of the rapscallion and an apology was made to the magistrate.

ADEQUATELY PUNISHED.

Judge Upton, of Keene, N. H., was a strict prohibitionist, and was long noted for the severity of the sentences he imposed on those arraigned before him for drinking.

Discouraged by his failure to diminish intemperance in his jurisdiction, he one day determined to ascertain what the cause of the trouble was. He went to a public house and obtained a supply of Medford brandy, and before retiring he hid the bottle in a safe.

The next morning, those who were present in the court saw the bottle, and the judge promptly discharged, while all other delinquents received their due punishment.

At the close of the session the prosecuting officer ventured to inquire why the court had so completely reversed his usual attitude toward the "drunks."

The judge, who had been sitting on the bench upon his hands, and still pressing his trembling temples, replied mournfully: "Poor devil. Let them go; they are punished enough." —Boston Herald.

(OFFICIAL STATEMENT)

RESULTS OF THE INVESTIGATION

The Severe Probing but Revealed Greater Strength—$3,000,000 Better Off Than it Claimed to Be—Investments Absolutely Secure and Highly Profitable—Mr. Kent's Remarks.

Now that the chaff of trifling details has blown away, the management of the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada desire to draw attention to the really important facts which the investigation by the Royal Commission has brought out.

LARGE PROFITS ON INVESTMENTS.

The most striking feature of the evidence was unquestionably the immense profitable character of the investments. During the past few years the company has realized a net profit after deducting all losses, not only of principal, but of interest, and after liberally writing down any securities at all doubtful of value $1,000,000 in hand.

In addition, the present market value of the securities still owned, is about $1,050,000 in excess of their ledger value. Still further, the company has a contingent fund, consisting chiefly of stocks obtained in years gone by as bonuses in connection with bond purchases, which, though held in the company's books at a nominal value of $1 for each block, have an approximate value of $3,050,000, and that value is increasing steadily.

The company's policy is to hold these securities as a contingent fund, and to only in case of emergency to sell such each block becomes interest bearing, or is sold. In the meantime policyholders have the advantage of the immense additional security thus provided, and may also reasonably expect to have their profits much increased from this source in years to come.

SAFETY THE FIRST CONSIDERATION.

Although the company has thus made enormous profits, these profits have not been made from speculative securities. The company carefully avoids such. The profits are the result of a policy of not waiting for investments to come to the company, but of deliberately looking around and selecting those that are safe and best, and then making use of the company's capital to purchase large blocks (its assets are now $24,000,000) to obtain inside terms, thus cutting out the middle men. Absolute safety is always the first consideration and profit is essentially secondary.

Actual illustration. The company's policy is to hold these securities as a contingent fund, and to only in case of emergency to sell such each block becomes interest bearing, or is sold. In the meantime policyholders have the advantage of the immense additional security thus provided, and may also reasonably expect to have their profits much increased from this source in years to come.

ILLINOIS TRACTION COMPANY.

The first investment of the company in Illinois Traction securities was the purchase of two-thirds of the bonds of the Danville, Urbana & Champaign railway. These were purchased by the first issue of the company's bonds, and the company has since then purchased the bonds of the Urbana and Champaign, and by a further lien on the public utilities of the three cities, comprising the street railways, electric light and gas plants of each.

These bonds were absolutely safe, and the company has since then purchased the bonds of the Urbana and Champaign, and by a further lien on the public utilities of the three cities, comprising the street railways, electric light and gas plants of each.

Another Steam Shovel.

The Skagway Alaskan says: "J. S. Tempin, the mining engineer, has secured control of the recently discovered O'Donnell creek in the Atlin district, and will put a steam shovel on it next year, and O'Donnell creek paid well last year for those who worked it, and it is regarded as one of the most promising of the Atlin creeks. Mr. Tempin is associated with Seattle parties, and he says they have four and a half miles of the creek. Mr. Tempin also has control of Bull creek."

A man generally does not get any foresight until he is too old to have anything to look forward to.

Dora—"Never tell Flora any secrets." Cora—"Can't she keep them?" Dora—"Keep them? Why, that girl tells people her right age."

There appears to be a strong probability that if the Burns Clubs do not come to the rescue promptly with their subscription on behalf of the Auld Brig o' Ayr the river will settle the matter ere long. The deterioration of the structure is proceeding with great rapidity, remarks the Glasgow Weekly Herald, and it would seem that a spate of water is much more powerful than a spate of orators.

dower of the East as the rose is the flower of the West.

"The common chrysanthemums of the florists are also called 'large-flowering' and autumn chrysanthemums,' though neither of these popular names is entirely accurate or distinctive. They are the blended product of C. Indicum and C. morifolium (or C. Sinense), two species of plants that grow wild in China and Japan. The present classification of the chrysanthemum is based wholly on the form of the flower, as each type can be had in any color found in the whole genus.

"The different types of chrysanthemum are: (1) The small single type; (2) the large single type; (3) the small Anemone type, commonly called 'Pompan Anemone'; (4) the large Anemone type; (5) the Japanese Anemone type; (6) the Pompan type; (7) the Hairy type, also called 'Ostrich Plume' and 'Japanese Hairy'; (8) Reflexed type; (9) Incurred type; (10) Japanese Incurred type; and (11) the Japanese types—the word 'Japanese' was originally used to designate the large-flowered varieties, kinds, introduced by Robert Fortune from Japan in 1862. It has never been restricted to varieties imported directly from Japan, but has always included seedlings raised in the western world. Before 1862 all florists' flowers in England were relatively formal and small. The informal, loose, fantastic Japanese chrysanthemums introduced by Fortune in 1862 broke up the formal era, and the craze for large specimen blooms which resulted in flower shows all over the world reached America in 1889.

"In general, the large-flowered forms are more popular than the small-flowered forms, especially at exhibitions, where great size is often the greatest factor in prize-winning."

Shortly after the opening of the show Messrs. Burton and Wollaston, who were entrusted with the judging, made the rounds and announced the following awards among the exhibitors: 1st Mrs. J. D. Pemberton; 2nd Mrs. Henry Croft; 3rd Mrs. Henry Croft; 4th Mrs. Henry Croft; 5th Mrs. Henry Croft; 6th Mrs. Henry Croft; 7th Mrs. Henry Croft; 8th Mrs. Henry Croft; 9th Mrs. Henry Croft; 10th Mrs. Henry Croft;
